WOMAN SOUGHT IN CALIFORNIA AXE SLAYINGS

Youth Admits Killing His Mother And Brother

Los Angeles, June 4.—(P)—Seeking a more satisfactory explanation for the crime committed by Louis Rude Payne, 21, police today sought a woman 10 years his senior in an effort to learn more about the youth who admittedly killed his mother and brother to death, and then wandered about for four days while their mutilated bodies lay undiscovered in the home.

"Because of a series of little things," was the nearest young Payne, son of a St. Louis public utility executive, got to the motive in the confession made public by police and alienists of the axe slaying Wednesday morning of the mother, Mrs. Carrie L. Payne, 45, and the brother, Robert, 14.

Detective Captain H. J. Wallis said young Payne told officers he had been keeping company with Marcella Weaver, a waitress, who was described as ten years older than the youth. Shortly after he had read in a newspaper at Huntington Beach yesterday that police were searching for him, Payne, a former law student, surrendered to officers there and was returned to Los Angeles. Police here said he quickly admitted he killed his mother and brother with a small hand axe early last Wednesday morning and garroted them with string.

A letter addressed to his father at a St. Louis hotel but unmailed and found in his clothing, was identified by the youth as his handwriting. A telegram, also unmailed, read:

"Dear Dad: I have killed mother and Bob. I am going to tell the police."

"I have really done all this in a daze," Payne told Wallis today. "I knew what I was doing but it was like I couldn't help myself, like something stronger than me was urging me on to it. You know, like there really were two parties to it, but physically only one."

"Have you had any quarrel with your mother or brother?" Capt. Wallis asked.

"Not any big one; nothing that would be sufficient to cause me to do anything at all radical. It may be that I was just unconsciously filled up with minor disturbances."

Payne said he killed his mother first, then went to his brother's room and hit him several times on the head. When the younger boy raised his arm, two fingers were severed by the blow from the axe.

"They were both asleep," Payne said. "I had gone to bed, but was restless. It was after midnight when I got out of bed. Bob had been using the axe in making toy boats. I went into their rooms several times before I hit them. I looked at them. I was fighting with myself, trying to keep down the impulse to kill."

Payne said he had only a hazy recollection of time since the slayings. He said he stayed at the home for a while. He took all the money he could find, registered at a hotel, saw a show, and walked for a long time. When he saw the picture of his mother in a newspaper and learned police were searching for him he decided to surrender.

JUNE ROBLES IN MOVIES

Long Beach, Calif., June 4.—(P)—June Robles, 6-year-old Arizona kidnap victim, is to enter the movies or go on a short vaudeville tour, her father, Fernando Robles, said today.

Robles said he would accept one of two contracts offered him and offer part of the proceeds to post a reward for June's kidnappers.

One of the offers calls for a four weeks' appearance tour at $1,000 a week.

GOV. PINCHOT CLAIMS STEEL FIRMS ARMING

Chief Executive Says Situation Looks "Bad"

By James Cope.

Associated Press Staff Writer. Washington, June 4.—(P)—The administration today approached the steel industry on plans for heading off a threatened strike June 16, hearing meantime from Governor Pinchot of Pennsylvania that the steel companies are arming and that the situation "is bad."

Not only did Hugh S. Johnson confer at length, in the privacy of a hotel suite, with W. A. Irvin, president of the United States Steel, but President Roosevelt told congressional leaders he wanted the Wagner labor disputes bill put through before adjournment.

Pinchot called at the White House, not to ask for aid, he told reporters, but principally to make a report. "The steel companies are arming. The situation looks bad. I am ready to meet whatever situation arises."

Johnson left the hotel the NRA head would not even admit to reporters he had been with the steel man, but said he might have something to say tomorrow. Irvin intended leaving Washington immediately to talk to other steel men, but he left R. D. Desvernine, counsel for the industry, here.

It appeared probable Johnson was seeking to deal with the steel issue by the method developed in the automobile strike threat: Creation of a government-directed board to be final arbiter on the question of who should represent employees in bargaining with the management.

For the present, however, he was believed merely to have sounded out Irvin on the attitude of the companies towards the situation.

Administration pressure behind the Wagner bill had not been definitely asserted until today, and evidently was put on in the hope that the measure's strengthening of the national labor board would have a quieting effect not only in the steel situation but in the whole field of labor trouble.

The steel question presented a serious middle for the administration because of many uncertain elements, not the least being the demand for more drought relief as a whole. Despite this, what prices dropped at Chicago to well below $1.00.

Events of the day also included Wisconsin's state conservation commission opened 1,400,000 acres of forest lands to starving livestock for pasture. The buying of cattle by the government in drought areas continued with vigor. Aid for livestock in 53 Kansas counties was requested. In Minnesota the national guard stood ready to enforce an embargo on shipments of animals into the state for grazing. A similar embargo was in effect in North Dakota and Wisconsin's governor considered following the example.

The farm administration broadened its designation of drought areas to include counties in four more states, Montana, Wyoming, Colorado and Oklahoma. Specialists reported drought conditions in some portions of Minnesota were found to be less than expected. Over large areas of the northwest, however, damage spread by grasshoppers, chinch bugs and other insects, thriving in dry weather, continued unabated.

SPIKE O'DONNELL FRACTURES HIP

Bodies Mangled And Scattered Over Wide Area

NAMITE BLAST KILLS SEVEN AT NORMAN, OKLA.

Norman, Okla., June 4.—(P)—Seven members of a seismograph oil exploration party were killed in an accidental explosion of a roadside dynamite magazine eight miles southeast of here late today.

The victims were identified as: Vernon H. Weddel, 26, Chandler, Okla.

Preston Barnes, Guthrie, Okla. Lloyd B. Flood, Norman, Okla. Don McDonald, San Antonio, Tex. David McLelland, Santa Anna, Texas.

Herman Voigt, Perry, Okla. Joe Fleming, May, Texas. Weddel was a water-carrier in the employ of the Sinclair Prairie Oil company. The others were employees of the Petty Geophysical Explorations company, working under contract for the Sinclair concern.

The men's bodies were mangled and scattered over an area 200 yards in diameter.

The blast inflicted severe damage on the farm home of T. A. Maloy, about 200 yards away. Ceilings were caved in, partitions were broken, and chinaware cracked.

Although none of the Maloy family was hurt, three of the children had a narrow escape. Just three minutes before the explosion, the children had approached the working men, and had been ordered back to their home.

Two other members of the party, Edward C. Petty, the foreman, and Weldon Crawford, were some distance away from the blast and were uninjured. Dr. B. H. Cooley of Norman, who assisted officials in conducting an investigation of the explosion, said Crawford was the only person in a position to see the blast, and he did not witness it, because his back was turned at the moment.

Mr. and Mrs. Martel Hitt of Indianapolis visited over the week-end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Hitt of Merritt.

Administration Reciprocal Tariff Bill Is Passed By U. S. Senate By 57-33 Vote

Pat Casey Dies Trying To Catch His Street Car

Chicago, June 4.—(P)—Patrick Casey, 60, had never been, his relatives said, late to his work in his 23 years as a street car motorman. But Casey today took a little bit more than his wonted time over his breakfast, looked at the clock and dashed madly to the car barns. He arrived just as another motorman started down the street in the car Casey should have driven.

Casey stopped a truck driver, quickly explained the situation, and the truck started in pursuit of the street car. The truck hit a rut, swerved into a light post, crashed through a shop window, and Casey died from a fractured skull.

ONE CONVICT IS KILLED DURING PRISON BREAK

Guard And Two Other Prisoners Receive Wounds

Parchman, Miss., June 4.—(P)—Twelve men escaped from the Mississippi penitentiary today and left one convict dead with two other prisoners and a guard wounded. Eleven were quickly recaptured and officials believed the twelfth would be in custody by morning.

Andrew Lewis, serving a term for robbery, was shot to death by guards as he fled with the others from Camp 10, where many of the unruly prisoners are quartered.

O. B. Winters, bank robber and purportedly one of the leaders of the break, was struck in the back by guards' fire and his condition was critical. J. M. Williamson, serving a three year robbery sentence, suffered an ankle wound.

Trusty Guard Wounded. Veto Brewer, a trusty guard who attempted to halt the break, was shot through the spine by the fleeing convicts. Prison officials said he likely would live but may be paralyzed.

The break occurred as the convicts were returning from work in cotton fields. Winters and Clifford Smith, life term prisoners, suddenly drew revolvers and forced J. C. Hannah, driver of a penitentiary truck, to surrender his machine and weapons, said Sergeant A. J. Sumner, in charge of Camp 10.

The two seized the cars and as they fled Brewer opened fire, wounding Winters. The convicts returned the fire, striking Brewer in the back.

Winters was captured by possemen after their machine had overturned but Smith was still at large tonight. Inspired by the action of Winters and Smith, ten other convicts fled. Before leaving the camp they sought to obtain a machine at the home of a prison sergeant, but were repulsed by house boys and helpers after a brisk exchange of shots in which no one was struck. They fled about 1000.

Posses were quickly organized. Williamson and three of his comrades were captured near Rome. Encountering a posse they refused to surrender and Williamson was brought down in the first volley of fire. The other three, Alfred Box, Cecil Tike and Jim Silver, gave up. Millard Hamm, Leonard Thompson, John Case, Carl Sprinkle and Shelby Halliday were apprehended a few minutes later by another posse.

The silver bill, stating a national policy of maintaining one fourth of all monetary reserves in silver and authorizing the president to make the necessary purchases. It has passed the House and will come up in the Senate tomorrow.

The housing bill, creating a new government corporation to underwrite loans made for home building and modernization and to encourage such activity in other ways. It has not yet received action by either branch of Congress.

The second deficiency bill, carrying authorizing the president to spend appropriations of $1,178,000,000, and total variously estimated at more than $6,000,000,000 for relief purposes. It was passed by the House today and awaits Senate action.

The tariff bargaining bill, now near the end of its congressional course. Already passed by the House, it was headed by the Senate late today for conference to eliminate disagreements between the two branches.

The Wagner Bill would create a national labor board to enforce stipulated labor law practices intended to assure to labor the right to organize for collective bargaining without employer-interference. The measure has not yet been brought up in either house.

The oil bill and the amendments to the agricultural adjustment act, endorsed by the administration, may be left for action at the next session.

The speed with which the measures listed by the president can be enacted depend entirely upon the Senate. So far as the House is concerned action on any bill has become a forty-minute formality under the rules adopted for the remainder of the session to end last week's republican filibuster.

Winchester callers in the city yesterday included Edward Lunken.

By D. Harold Oliver Associated Press Staff Writer

Washington, June 4.—(P)—By a margin of 24 votes the senate late today passed the administration reciprocal tariff bill and returned it to the house where Democratic leaders hope for acceptance of senate changes to make a conference unnecessary.

The vote of 57 to 33 for the measure removed one of the last big obstacles to adjournment. It ended two and a half weeks of debate and permitted immediate consideration of the house-approved silver purchase bill.

The tariff measure emerged unchanged from a barrage of opposition amendments and only five Democrats—Adams, Dill, Glass, Long and Fowler—left the reservation on the final roll call. An equal number of Republicans voted for the bill. They were Capper, Couzens, La Follette, Norbeck and Norris.

Gives President Power. The legislation, approved by the house March 29, empowers the president to make tariff-bargaining agreements with foreign powers without submitting them to the senate for approval. Its object is to regain some of the foreign commerce lost by the United States since the depression.

The vote was preceded by a burst of dramatics occasioned by a committee amendment offered by Senator Harrison (D. Miss.) to prevent the excise taxes on imported oil, lumber, coal and copper from being changed by the trade agreements.

Harrison did not favor the amendment himself, but said he offered it to clarify what a lot of senators thought the framers of the bill intended to do. He said he regarded the excise taxes as tariffs.

As a vote was about to be called Senator Ashurst (D. Ariz.), a copper protectionist, jumped up to assert: "I protest this drawing of an assassin's dirk at the last minute to kill the loyal supporters of this bill. This amendment was conceived in iniquity and born in unfairness. I am willing to take a chance on the president raising the tariff on copper."

Harrison withdrew the amendment after this, but Senator Long (D. La.) reaffirmed it and it was rejected, 57 to 29.

Of the four commodities, only lumber now has a tariff in addition to an excise tax. While the president is prohibited from taking articles from the free list under the bill, defeat of the amendment means he could either raise or lower the protection now afforded these four major commodities.

Among the amendments defeated were those which would have exempted farm products from the bargaining agreements and given congress veto power over the international arrangements worked out.

The break occurred as the convicts were returning from work in cotton fields. Winters and Clifford Smith, life term prisoners, suddenly drew revolvers and forced J. C. Hannah, driver of a penitentiary truck, to surrender his machine and weapons, said Sergeant A. J. Sumner, in charge of Camp 10.

REPUBLICANS LOOKING FOR MODEL LEADER

New Chairman Will Be Selected Today

By Robert M. Yoder.

Associated Press Staff Writer. Chicago, June 4.—(P)—The hunt for a "model leader" who can engineer a political comeback for the Republican party went on in full cry tonight with no single prospect in general demand.

Four names occurred more frequently than others as the party's national committee canvassed the available material, but both privately or publicly, the committeemen declared the field was still open.

The titular head of the party—former President Herbert Hoover—was not on hand, and while there were Hoover friends and supporters, the committeemen declared Mr. Hoover was not attempting to influence the selection of a new manager.

Have Strong Backing. Supposed to have the strongest backing for the post, in the caucuses and conferences under way in a half dozen loop hotels, were: Walter J. Kohler of Wisconsin, former governor of that state.

Walter Edge of New Jersey, former senator and one-time ambassador to France.

Henry P. Fletcher, Pennsylvania, former ambassador to Italy.

Walter S. Hallahan, a "dark horse" candidate, of West Virginia, business man.

Kohler and Hallahan had what many of the national committeemen considered an advantage—they are middlewesterners, by loose political boundaries. For psychological reasons, some of the strategists said, the party's leader may be chosen from that region rather than from the east. A companion movement was on foot tonight to move the party's headquarters from Washington to Chicago, and was supposed to have considerable backing.

At least six others, all members of the national committee, were still possibilities, and there was also the chance that this year the national committee may go outside of its own ranks for a chairman. Committee men looked at Harford MacNider, President Hoover's minister to Canada, as the most likely candidate in this class, but doubted if MacNider, an Iowan, would accept unless "drafted."

This was also said to be the position of former Governor Kohler, who like MacNider, Edge and Fletcher, was not present for the meeting.

The formal choice of a chairman is to be made in a committee session at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning, which probably be a closed session. Preliminary meetings, according to hotel corridor gossip, found the committee members in favor of adopting this procedure so as to present a peaceful and united front without public squabbles over political and donor finances.

The first shot of the fall congressional campaign and the first official statement of the party on public affairs is expected to come out of the meeting tomorrow morning in the shape of resolutions condemning the "new deal" and sounding the party's battle cry for 1934.

Senior Vice Chairman Ralph E. Williams of Oregon, who said definitely that he himself "could not and would not" accept the party's helm, declared that an efficient organizer, with a strong sense of political tact and talent as a peacemaker, is what the party seeks.

"The question of location won't make so much difference," he said. "The party's other vice chairman, J. Henry Roraback of Connecticut, said that eastern members, in his opinion, were entirely open minded" as to the selection of a candidate.

The retiring chairman, Everett Sanders of Indiana, manager of the Hoover presidential campaign in 1932, said he was pushing no candidate.

Charles D. Hilles, national committeeman from New York and manager of the Taft campaign, was said not to want the post, although having, along with Williams of Oregon, strong "seniority rights."

Such influential party generals as Hilles and William S. Vane of Pennsylvania were listed, in pre-election rumor, as backing Hallahan, but rumor placed equally powerful opponents against him—among them former Postmaster General Walter P. Brown and Ogden L. Mills, former secretary of the treasury.

At today's conferences and caucuses went on, with all the secrecy and maneuvering of a national convention, relatively new names appeared in the discussion. As a compromise candidate, many of the committeemen spoke of Harrison E. Spangler, national committeeman for Iowa; and there was gossip of a movement to pick Philip L. Collins, prominent Illinois American Legion leader, particularly among a faction eager to see "new blood" in the party.

Will Receive Degree. Salt Lake City, June 4.—(P)—Secretary of War George H. Dern, former governor of Utah, arrived here today for a week's stay.

At the commencement of the University of Utah tomorrow he will receive an honorary degree of doctor of laws.

Illinois Republican State Committeemen Launch Attack On National Administration

BRITISH SEND DEBT NOTE TO UNITED STATES

Will Defer Making Any Payments On Total Due June 15

Chicago, June 4.—(P)—Illinois republican state committeemen today began the job of picking flaws in the democratic administration's handling of national problems as the first move in their effort to regain the power snatched from them in 1932.

The meeting, called for the purpose of planning campaign strategies and attended by 21 of the 25 members, laid the responsibility for alleged violations of the democratic campaign promises of 1932 on President Roosevelt, indicating that opposition to the new deal and to the Roosevelt policies in general would be the principal theme of their campaign.

"Deadly Parallel." A formal statement containing a "deadly parallel" in which democratic promises and performances were set forth in adjoining columns, was approved by the meeting and issued to newspapermen. It concluded:

"The president, not the 'brain trust,' nor the monopolistically intrigued big business men, is responsible for the fact that our historic democracy is being betrayed by the party in power."

And Justus L. Johnson of Aurora, state chairman, added:

"This statement will also let the national republican committee know that Illinois is not afraid to face the issue and to put the challenge up to the national committee to speak out on the national issues and not to pussyfoot on them."

The meeting voted further to supply a copy of the statement to Frank L. Smith of Dwight and Mrs. Bertha D. Bauer of Chicago, the Illinois representatives on the national committee, which is to meet in Chicago tomorrow.

"In some quarters," the statement set forth, "there seems to exist the false idea that, although the present national administration is apparently doing all it can to substitute a 'planned society' under a new form of government, for our constitutional republic, nevertheless the president should not be criticised or held responsible for what is being done to the American citizen under what the president is pleased to call the 'new deal.'"

"The fallacy of this idea is plain when the fact is recalled that all the oppressive and utopian schemes now being foisted on us have been fostered and personally promoted by the president since he took office and are wholly at variance with the political platform adopted by his party at Chicago in 1932."

The statement then attacked the administration for:

Tax increases, increases in government bureaus, failure to balance the budget, failure to establish a competitive tariff to enforce the anti-trust laws to remove the government from business, to protect investors, to provide currency inflation, and to provide adequately for war veterans.

Johnson followed the statement with an appeal to the committeemen to rally their forces in the effort to destroy the democratic congressional majorities by which the administration's power is maintained. At least six additional congressmen will be credited to Illinois republicans this year, he predicted.

After naming a long series of minor committees, the group went into executive session to discuss the state convention August 9 at Springfield.

Don Garrison of Rushville, Ill., was named executive assistant to Johnson.

HUBERT MOOR IS GIVEN LIFE

Marshall, Ill., June 4.—(P)—Hubert Moor, the Robinson school teacher who killed his wife two years ago, today escaped the electric chair but got life imprisonment instead.

Moor was convicted of murder in his second trial after a Clark county jury, which set his punishment at a life sentence. He is 34.

Formal sentencing was postponed until next Monday by Circuit Judge Casper Platt of Danville, who took under advisement the defense motions for a new trial.

Speechless and with bowed head, Moor heard the verdict in the same manner in which he sat through the trial last week.

Insanity was the defense plea of the teacher, who had confessed killing his wife on an automobile trip from Indianapolis to Robinson as the culmination of his brooding over their home life. At his first trial, soon after the slaying, Moor said his wife had been a poor housekeeper.

At that time he was sentenced to death, but the Illinois Supreme Court finally granted the retrial.

PLANE FALLS; TWO KILLED. Highland, Kas., June 4.—(P)—Edwin S. Olson, 25, and his sister, Elsie Ruth Olson, 18, St. Louis, crashed to their death near here today while flying home from a Nebraska church conference.

Olson was piloting the plane which had been constructed from parts of several wrecked ships.

Farmers said the motor appeared to falter and the ship behaved crazily for several minutes before it fell.

Wayne Thompson has returned to the C. C. C. camp in Mt. Carl after a week and visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Thompson.

William Morris of Pisgah was a Monday business caller in the city.

Literberry callers in Jacksonville Monday included Dwight Green.

BRITISH SEND DEBT NOTE TO UNITED STATES

Will Defer Making Any Payments On Total Due June 15

Washington, June 4.—(P)—Great Britain dispatched a note to the state department late today informing the United States it had been found necessary to defer making any payment on the total of $261,791,001.88 due on war debts installment on June 15.

A few minutes before the British note was made public L. Astor, the Finnish minister, informed the state department that the Finnish government would, as usual, make full payment in cash of its war debt installment amounting to $166,538 in New York June 15.

The British note was delivered to William Phillips, under secretary of state, by Philip Mainwaring Broadhead, first secretary of the British embassy, acting for Sir Ronald Lindsay, the British ambassador.

Make Token Payment. Great Britain in June 15, 1933, made a token payment of $10,0

Liberty or Government

Col. Raymond Robbins, in his address here Monday, pointed out that the world was marked a turning point in the history of democracy. Since the Renaissance, which marked the beginning of modern times, the struggle of men has been for freedom. Progress was slow, but great, and it is a far cry from the serfdom and feudalism of medieval Europe to the enlightened democratic governments which were in existence at the beginning of the great war.

But since the war, as Col. Robbins says, the trend has been reversed. Today there is little democracy left in Europe. In Italy Mussolini's black shirts, in Germany Hitler's brown shirts, in Austria Dollfuss' riflemen, in Poland Pileuski's bayonets, all hold European peoples under strict surveillance.

The people of Europe have turned from democracy because of the period of economic and political chaos which followed the war. Instead of being saved for democracy the world was apparently saved for dictatorship.

Britain retains a democracy which was the strongest and best in Europe, but even there fascism is threatening. In fact so rapid is the spread of fascism throughout Europe that it is difficult to find enough colors for shirts. Pink and yellow are about the only colors that have not been officially adopted.

As for the United States, Col. Robbins is of the opinion that this country may be the last bulwark of democracy. Yet we notice certain phrases that are mentioned with startling frequency, such as "Good government may not be sold government," and opposing this, "We would rather be hungry and free."

People who think that the closely-regimented peoples of Europe are better off than Americans need to get a glimpse of the inside over there. There is unemployment in those countries still, and there is discontent. In America when we get dissatisfied, we can growl; but in Europe the man who grows gets shot at sunrise, and nothing more is heard from him.

The man who is willing to sell his liberty for an immediate loaf of bread may find that he has sold his birthright for a mess of pottage. The Israelites yearned for the garlic and feshpots of Egypt, tho they knew it meant slavery. But that was in the wilderness. When they reached Canaan, "a land of flowing with milk and honey," they forgot their foolishness.

If we will have the good sense to stand by democracy until we get out of the economic morass, we will wonder how we could ever have thought of changing to fascism, communism or any other ism.

Changing Governors

California has a new Governor, Frank P. Merriam, who steps into office on the death of Governor Rolph. It is not an easy matter for a man who has been serving in a comparatively insignificant office to step up and take the reins of state. The plunge into prominence is sudden and disconcerting.

Governor Merriam comes to the head of a great state, the population of which has given it eight new seats in Congress following the 1930 census. It is a state of great area, with vast resources. There are within it many difficult problems of wide variety.

The fact that California is on the Pacific coast and has a large oriental population, with a generous mixture of Spanish and Mexican, makes the race problem acute. Considering its complicated nature, that problem has been admirably handled by the Californians.

Then there is the Tom Mooney case. With the change of Governors, there is almost certain to be a renewal of the fight to secure the release of Mooney and Billings serving life sentences for a bombing during the Preparedness day parade in San Francisco in 1916. The Mooney case has ramifications thru the labyrinth of radicalism, and about it are clustered all the prejudices of a generation. Rolph was firm in his refusal to pardon Mooney.

Then, too, Governor Merriam has his own future to consider. One of the disadvantages of holding an elective office is that the holder has to see to it that he is re-elected. Merriam wants a term as Governor in his own right, which is only natural. He must add politics to his many knotty problems.

South Polar "Heat"

From the Byrd expedition at the South Pole come reports of a "heat wave." The mercury has registered 25 above zero for several days, and yet it is the dead of winter and continuous night. The weather man of the expedition explains that warm air from the north has been pouring into that region.

We are glad the penguins have not placed an embargo on warm air. We have a surplus up here, and we are glad to find an outlet. We hope to continue to export large volumes of warm air to the South Pole, that being the only way we can get rid of what we don't need. The Byrd settlers in Little America can have all the warm air they want at nothing per cent, and we'll furnish transportation.

However, we would be pleased with a little reciprocity. If they could send us some of that air they have had on ice down there for a few thousand years, we would greatly appreciate it. We will be glad to pay the freight, and will guarantee to take all they can send this way.

Critical Time For Crops

Weather during the next two weeks will just about tell the story for many of the principal crops of the country, now suffering from drought and intense heat.

Both winter and spring wheat are entering the most critical stage of their growth right now. Already badly damaged, these crops must have rainfall before the middle of June if they are to make anything like a satisfactory yield.

Pastures and hay crops are already scorched in many places, and small feed grains such as oats and barley must get rain within a few days if rain is to do any good.

Corn still has a chance. The principal damage to corn so far has been the delay of germination. More rains within the next week or 10 days could help the corn crop. Ordinarily the last half of June and the month of July is the critical time for corn. However, delay of germination beyond the middle of June endangers the corn crop from an early frost this fall.

In area covered and moisture deficiency this drought surpasses any on record for the United States. The only other one to which this could be compared is the one of 1894, which occurred early in the season. Recent droughts, such as the one in 1930, have occurred considerably later than the present one.

Drought and Fire

Beardstown Illinoisan-Star

The mechanism of nature responsible for rainfall seems to have quite positively sheared a pinion or stripped some gears. Ominous clouds gather overhead, but the hoped for rain is not forthcoming.

In eight weeks this immediate community has not been favored with enough moisture from the heavens to be worthy of designation as even a shower. The condition exists generally over the entire midwestern and sections of the north and southwest.

Lack of rainfall is each day creating a more serious agricultural crisis. Crops everywhere are being wrecked by the continued drought. Pastures are burned up. Livestock is being shipped from the prairie states to other localities, or being otherwise disposed of. Growing crops of wheat and oats have various localities been plowed up when it was apparent there would be no yield, due either to a baked soil, or the inroads of chinch bugs, which thrive under existing weather conditions.

In addition to these tragic conditions, there is the added and ever present threat from loss by fire. The recent Chicago fire should serve as a warning, and a reminder of the unusually serious fire hazard existing at times when everything is so dry and parched, that flames once started spread rapidly.

This is a time when greater caution should be exercised than ever. The cigarette stub, the lighted match that is flipped away, the oily rag piled in the corner, the burning rubbish; these and a dozen other frequent causes result in disastrous conflagrations, and should be watched with special attention these days.

An entire city could be easily be swept away in flames in this drought period. Be careful of fire, now, as you have never been careful before.

To the Editor of The Journal-Courier:

Santa Monica, Calif., June 4.—That Mussolini who is the "sire" of the present dictator epidemic, knows just what to do to drive those other nations "nutty," he knows his sociology, (that's not spelled right but it sounds right), he asked his soldiers Saturday, "Are you ready to fight?" and he did it so loud that the adjoining nations could hear. Now that is how he has kept out of a war all this time, (when everybody predicted he would have one every week) but here is something that he did tell his people that will bear repeating all over the world, "we must accept hard times, and we must get used to hard times."
Yours, WILL ROGERS.

The New Deal in Washington

By RODNEY DUTCHER
Journal-Courier Washington Correspondent

Washington, June 4.—If munitions industry investigators look sharply enough, they'll find some interesting evidence in the government's own files.

Assuming, of course, that nothing has been removed.

Exports of arms and other war materials to South American and other warring countries haven't always been made without the knowledge—or even the encouragement—of certain persons in certain federal departments.

The boys who learned from Mr. Hoover how to high-pressure our foreign trade didn't see why we shouldn't sell our machine guns as vigorously as anything else.

Some of them are still here and even their recent activities, when and if revealed, may cause such a flurry as to result in the loss of a few minor jobs in two departments.

In the present Chaco war, Paraguayan soldiers actually used to find dead Bolivian soldiers clad in U. S. Army uniforms, with regimental and other insignia.

The War Department had sold the uniforms and other surplus stocks to private contractors here. But that's only a sidelight.

Stephen T. Rauschenbush, chief investigator for Chairman Nye of the Senate munitions committee, is checking files of the Commerce, War, State and other departments.

The White House sent word down that he was to have full access.

Some of the investigators who worked with Ferdinand Pecora on the stock market investigation, digging up the dirt on J. P. Morgan, Albert Wiggin, and other emperors of finance, will now work under Rauschenbush and delve into affairs of huge corporations which make munitions.

Well, Anyway, It's a Horse

What ever did become of the famous mechanical horse which Calvin Coolidge used to ride in the White House?

Ted Clark, Coolidge's former personal secretary, thinks it must be in storage up at Northampton.

But a lot of pretty, bare-legged girls are thrilled every day by rides on an iron steed which they understand is the very same animal. It's installed out at the Shoreham swimming pool and the cheek girl who passes out towels tells everybody to be sure and take a ride on Mr. Coolidge's horse.

It seems that a man who had the horse and didn't like it came around and offered it if he could swim free when he wanted. The nag was a gift to him from a lady whose husband wasn't in love with it either.

Maybe, it's the Coolidge horse and maybe not, but everybody agrees it isn't much fun unless you think so.

Huey's Holding His Own

Again, your correspondent is forced to point out that great slugging match, The Administration vs. Huey Long, is far from one-sided.

Huey isn't getting federal patronage, but neither are the administration's appointments to important Louisiana jobs, made against his wishes, getting through the Senate.

What do you suppose became of that nomination of Daniel D. Moore to be collector of internal revenue in Huey's state? The finance committee reported it favorably after the Kingfish had shown Moore's connection with Colonel Bradley, the gambling man, and created an uproar heard all around the country.

Insiders are sure it won't go through in this session.

beldom allows confirmation of a man "personally objectionable" to a member—extends even unto Huey.

Rev. J. C. Shull Gets Degree in Chicago

Rev. and Mrs. J. C. Shull of Virginia returned from Chicago Monday where they attended the graduation exercises of the Bethany Biblical Seminary, where Mr. Shull gave an address on the Class Day program. "The Needs of the World Facing the Seminary Graduate." In the Commencement exercises he was awarded the degree of Doctor of Theology for Post Graduate study and research.

Rev. Mr. Shull is a graduate of Manchester college in Indiana, with the A. B. degree, a graduate of the Bethany Biblical Seminary with the S. D. degree, after which he pursued post graduate study in Northwestern University and received the M. A. degree. Further post graduate study in Garrett Biblical Institute, Evanston, and in Bethany Biblical Seminary, Chicago, led to the degree Master of Theology, and since that time study and research in the Divinity School of the University of Chicago, Theological Seminary and Bethany Biblical Seminary, enabled Rev. Mr. Shull to complete the Doctorate in Theology.

The Th. D. marks the culmination of nine years of fully accredited study and research since high school graduation, in two colleges, two universities and five seminaries.

In the summer of 1932, Rev. Mr. Shull was a member of the American Seminar in the Sherwood Eddy party, and made a study tour of several European countries, including the Soviet Union. Since that time he has given more than a hundred travel lectures, illustrating them with his own pictures.

Rev. Mr. Shull has the distinction of having been featured by Ripley in "Believe It or Not?" and by Hix in "Strange As It May Seem," having his picture and data syndicated in hundreds of the leading newspapers throughout the entire world.

In the last fourteen years, Rev. Mr. Shull has held two pastorates, one in Springfield for six years and his present pastorate for eight years. He is pastor of the First Presbyterian church, Virginia, Illinois.

"Comedy of Errors" at I.C. Friday, June 8

Finishing touches are being made by the directors of the Dramatic club of Illinois College for the presentation of Shakespeare's "Comedy of Errors" Friday night, June 8. Night rehearsals are being held on the woodland stage, costumes have been ordered and the directors are enthusiastic over the performance. This is the first time that this play has been given by the local club. It promises to be one of the outstanding events of the commencement activities. Miss Paul Thompson and Hoyt C. Franchere of the speech department have announced a slight revision in the cast. The complete cast in the order of their appearance is as follows:

Solinus, Duke of Ephesus—Eldred Robertson.
Antipholus of Ephesus—Ned Donahoe.
Antipholus of Syracuse—J. Owen Neal.

MacMurray Graduates Hear Raymond Robbins; Degrees Are Conferred

"Progress marches from the precinct to the White House thru the men and women of the nation. The leaders of 15 years from now will be those who are able to co-operate in the social system, to persuade others to do their best, and to make every group in society, from the lowest to the highest a productive unit". Thus did Col. Raymond Robbins, who addressed the large MacMurray College commencement audience at Grace church Monday morning, appeal to the members of the graduating class for the qualities of leadership.

President C. P. McClelland presented Col. Robbins to the audience as one who himself has become a leader. It was the third appearance of Col. Robbins before a Jacksonville audience. Fifteen years ago he delivered the Commencement address at Illinois college, and in June, 1917, he addressed a Red Cross war gathering here.

Col. Robbins had as his topic, "Leadership." He said he would not select the most brilliant members of the graduating class as the future leaders. "It has," he said, "become a trite Commencement saying that you are living in the greatest generation. But to say that this an age of confusion and change, is absolutely true. I took part in a war to make the world safe for democracy. Today there is less democracy in Europe than there has been for fifty years and less confidence in democracy than in a hundred years.

"From the Renaissance to the World war the trend of humanity was toward individual freedom; men were getting away from hierarchies and oppressive governments. But since the war the trend has been reversed. It is possible that America will be the last bulwark of individual freedom. Old Britain still has it in a measure, but in this country we still believe that the constitution and the laws protect the individual in his rights and liberties. Some of us would rather have liberty than security, we would rather be hungry and free. But there are those who would sacrifice liberty for better government.

Great Need of Leadership
"In this hour leadership is the great need. The old order is passing; the new order is not yet born. It is hard for us to get away from the individualisms that built this nation; but we must acknowledge that the future leaders will be those who understand team play.

"Are there any in the class who are slow, who have to dig for what they get and sometimes don't get it? Are there any who haven't much money? Remember, that underneath the brilliant intellects of society is the great mass of the people, the workers, the plodders, the slow ones, who toil that the intellectuals may have something to live on. Progress is just as fast as the pace of the slowest, and if the future leaders can make those who are slow useful and productive in their lives, they will have done a noble work.

"We learned many things on the march into the Klondyke back in 1897. There were 20,000 of us who started the trek over the mountains and ice rivers, and only 1,500 who arrived in the gold fields. Each man had to get 2,000 pounds of equipment and supplies thru the frozen wastes.

"We learned that it wasn't what was outside of a man, but what was inside of him that counted in that march. It wasn't always the man of powerful physique who completed the journey. It took more than mere brawn.

Must Be Team Play
"We learned that one man could not go it alone. There had to be team play, with every man doing his part, but always adapting his pace to that of the others. If there was anything an old Alaskan 'sour-dough' hated worse than all else it was a quitter."

Col. Robbins illustrated his points with many of his own experiences. He closed with a tribute to Abraham Lincoln, who represented the type of leadership he described. Born in poverty, half defeated in early life, endowed with resolution to hit hard the institution of slavery as he saw it in the New Orleans market, Lincoln rose to his supreme hour, the master of his destiny. The speaker emphasized that there was plenty of gold in the Klondyke, but those who got it had to dig for it, and so it is today in life.

Dr. McClelland, in a brief talk, stated that the college has had a successful year and, because of a recent generous gift from Senator MacMurray, will close its fiscal year June 30 with all debts paid and a surplus of $40,000.

Dr. J. R. Harker, representing the board of trustees, invested the president with the authority to confer the degrees. He stated that the Illinois legislature conferred that right upon the trustees nearly eighty-four years ago.

Confer Degrees
Dean Hawkins presented the members of the graduating class for their degrees, and the following were the degrees and honors conferred:

Roodhouse Barber Dies Early Monday

Roodhouse, June 4.—William Poor, 71, a resident of this community for 45 years, died at 1:15 o'clock Monday morning at his home here.

He was a barber by occupation, and worked in his shop until noon on May 29. That afternoon he was mowing his lawn and suffered a stroke, from which he could not recover. Death is attributed to apoplexy.

Decedent is survived by his wife, Christina Poor, one daughter, Elsie, wife of Clarence Denny of Roodhouse, and two grandchildren. He leaves also one sister, Mrs. Belle Hogg, of Cape Girardeau, Mo. He was born in Pike county.

The remains were taken to the W. E. Reeve Funeral Home. Arrangements for final rites have not been completed, but burial will be in Fernwood cemetery. Mr. Poor was a charter member of the Knights of Pythias lodge here.

SOWING SOYBEANS AND COWPEAS MAY MEET FEED NEEDS

Urbana, Ill., June 2.—Threatened with a serious feed shortage as a result of the dry weather and the chinch bug menace, Illinois livestock farmers still have a chance to meet the situation by planting additional land to soybeans or cowpeas for hay, according to the animal husbandry department, College of Agriculture, University of Illinois.

Dry weather since the early part of April has reduced the growth of pastures, meadows and small grains. At the same time the abnormally dry season has been particularly favorable for the reproduction of hordes of chinch bugs, the most destructive and widespread insect now present in the state. Unless heavy rains are general in a short time, these two factors may create a serious shortage of livestock feed, it was predicted.

Since chinch bugs do not feed on legumes, it is being suggested that Illinois farmers take immediate steps to increase their soybean and cowpea acreage for hay production. It may be advisable to plant some of the corn ground to these crops.

Both soybeans and cowpeas are excellent roughages for meat, dairy and work stock. When these hays are fed along with lower grade non-leguminous roughages, they greatly improve the productivity of the ration. Soybeans may be planted in the central and northern counties of the state and cowpeas in southern Illinois.

Soybeans are usually seeded soon after corn planting in a thoroughly prepared seedbed which should contain sufficient moisture to sprout the beans. Inoculation is, of course, recommended. When seeded solid with a grain drill, 6 to 7 pecks of beans will be required to the acre, or if planted in rows 28 to 32 inches apart, 35 to 45 pounds will suffice in the case of medium-sized seed.

Sudan grass has also given satisfactory results as a hot weather pasture and hay crop in Illinois. However, since sudan is one of the favorite foods of chinch bugs, it will be advisable to seed either soybeans or cowpeas as a companion crop to sudan grass this year. Using 1½ bushels of beans or peas and 15 pounds of sudan grass to the acre gives a practical seeding.

Missionary Groups Plan Picnic June 5

The members of the Women's Foreign and Home Missionary societies of Grace M. E. church and their families will hold their annual potluck picnic on Tuesday, June 5th at 6:00 p. m. at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Hall, 1701 South Diamond street. The assistant hostesses will be Mesdames W. B. Rogers, Hubert Little and Miss Ida Maddox.

After the picnic supper the following program will be presented: "Worship, the Life was the Light" by H. P. Mohr. Solo, "Take Joy Home" by Bassett, Miss Charlotte Sieber, accompanied by Mrs. Ruth James Play. "Lee Ling, Missionary" directed by Mrs. E. D. Herald and assisted by the Misses Ida Maddox and Jeannette Scott. The cast of characters is as follows:

Lee Ling, Miss Martha Belle Keilner; Mildred, Winona Cocking; Ada, Gladys Gully; Arline, Jeannette Riley; Marian, Elizabeth Frost; Blanche, Marie Yaeger.

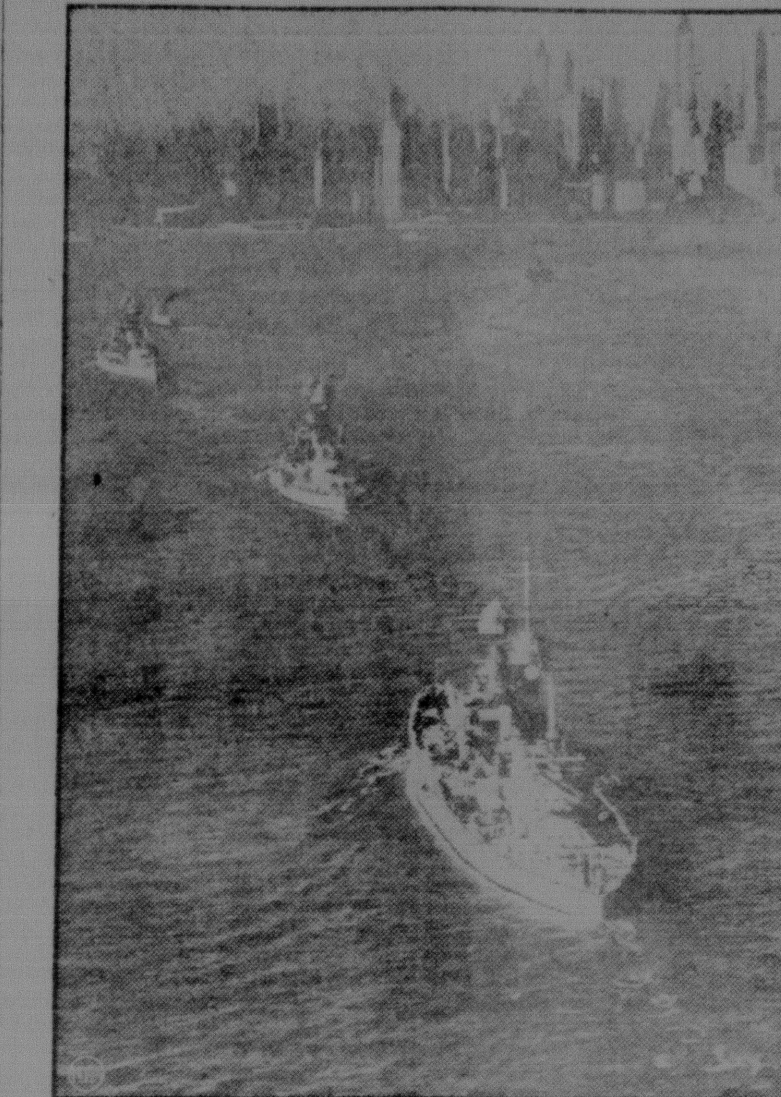

Solo, "Publish Glad Tidings" by Miss Charlotte Sieber with the following girls dressed in white Grecian robes, forming the tableau: Betty McClelland, Wilma Ross, Carol McClelland, Vivian Wise, Margaret Miller, Margaret Smith and Mary Lee Lewis.

Owner of Kline's Stores Guest Here

Jacob Kline, president of the Kline department stores, has found better conditions throughout the entire area in which stores operated by his company are located, he informed S. H. Brenner, manager of the local unit, during a visit here Saturday. Mr. Kline is making his semi-annual tour of stores, visiting the Charleston store before coming here, and the Hannibal and Quincy stores today.

Each unit has been able to show net gains for the first four months of the year, he told Mr. Brenner. While here, the president of the organization inspected the new arrangement in the local store for the first time, and expressed his pleasure with the presentation of merchandise.

Experience of Camel smokers is now Explained

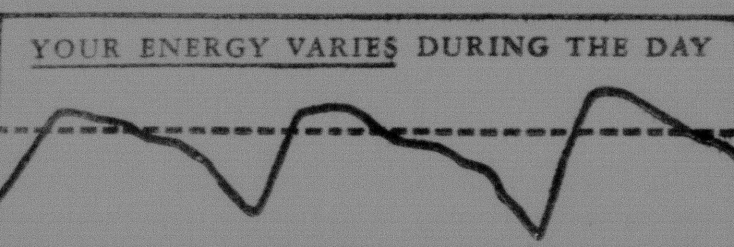

From a famous research laboratory in New York comes a basic discovery that throws new light on our past knowledge about cigarettes. It embodies an "energizing effect" ... a harmless restoration of the flow of natural body energy...a delightful relief from fatigue and irritability. When you smoke a Camel you enjoy an increase in your flow of energy. And this benefit you get from smoking Camels can be enjoyed all through the day...without upsetting your nerves.

WORN OUT...and then he smoked a Camel!

Important Facts for Smokers Discovered by Science!

Let CAMELS increase Your Flow of ENERGY

Tired? Light a Camel. And as you enjoy its cool, pleasing fragrance, you feel a new flow of energy...a cheering "lift"...a quick and delightful "energizing" effect.

IT'S YOUR OWN NATURAL ENERGY RELEASED

You've probably noticed this yourself and have wondered why and how it happened. The "lift" you get from Camels is a release of your own natural energy...your latent energy made easily and harmlessly available. So when you're feeling run-down, tired, "all in," smoke a Camel and see what happens. That tired feeling slips away. You're ready again for work and fun. Camels have helped your own body to help itself and bring you back in "pep" and energy.

AND CAMELS NEVER JANGLE YOUR NERVES!

You can smoke just as many of these delightful Camels as you want. You can increase your flow of energy over and over again. And you need never worry about your nerves. For remember! Camel's costlier tobaccos never get on your nerves.

CAMELS Costlier Tobaccos never get on your Nerves

Camels are made from finer, MORE EXPENSIVE TOBACCOS—Turkish and Domestic—than any other popular brand.

WHO HASN'T FELT "dog-tired" after work...with a long evening ahead...and dinner time still an hour away? That's just one of the many, many times during the day when you will want to light up a Camel—for restoring your flow of healthful energy. You'll like Camels—a matchless blend of costlier tobaccos!

GRIGGSVILLE COUPLES ARE MARRIED SUNDAY

Two Weddings Take Place; Pike Couple Wed in Macomb

Griggsville, Ill., June 4.—Wedding bells rang merrily in Griggsville Sunday. At 7:30 p. m. Harry Collins and Mayetta Crane were united in marriage at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ross Crane in Griggsville. The Rev. Oscar F. Jones, pastor of the Griggsville M. E. church officiating and using the single ring ceremony.

The groom is the son of Charles H. and Elizabeth Montague Collins of Bluffs, Ill., and the bride is the daughter of Ross and May Crane. She is a graduate of the Griggsville Community High school and of the M. E. church. She was gowned in a beautiful light blue crinkle crepe with white accessories and carried a bouquet of tea roses and gladiolus. The groom wore a dark suit. They were attended by Kermit Burgher and Maxine Ross who served as best man and lady. Miss Ross wore an all-white embroidered organdie dress with blue sash and white accessories and carried a bouquet of snapdragons, roses and sweet peas. The best man wore a dark suit.

The happy young couple will reside in Bluffs for the present, the groom being employed as an oiler on a dredge boat working near Naples.

Burner-Ross
Kermit Burgher and Maxine Ross were united in marriage at the M. E. parsonage Sunday at 9:30 p. m. the Rev. Oscar F. Jones, pastor, officiating and using the single ring ceremony.

The groom is the son of Walter G. and Minnie Fellers, Burgher of Baylis and is a graduate of the Baylis and Griggsville Community High schools. The bride is the daughter of Raymond E. and Lela Johnson Ross of Griggsville and is a member of the Griggsville M. E. church and a graduate of the Griggsville Community High school and is at present employed in the Butterfield Drug Store in Griggsville.

The bride wore a beautiful all-white embroidered organdie dress with blue sash and white accessories and carried a bouquet of snapdragons, roses and sweet peas. The groom wore a dark suit. This young couple had at 7:00 p. m. served as best man and best lady at the wedding of Harry Collins and Mayetta Crane, but had not at that time communicated their intentions of getting married to anyone, not even to the minister. The young couple they had served as best man and lady, returned the compliment of serving for them, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Collins, serving also as witnesses. They will reside in Griggsville. Mr. Burgher working in the orchards and Mrs. Burgher will continue her work in Butterfield's Drug Store.

Love-Morris
Gilbert Love and Miss Dorothy Morris were united in marriage at the Christian church in Macomb Sunday at 3:00 p. m. by the pastor the Rev. Robertson who used the single ring ceremony. Miss Bernadine Giffrey served as bridesmaid and Harry Pyle of Griggsville as best man.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Love of Griggsville and is a graduate of the Griggsville Community High school and has his Bachelor of Education degree from Western Illinois State Teachers at Macomb. For the past year he has been teaching and coaching athletics at Ellisville. The bride is also a graduate of Western Teachers and has for the last two years been teaching in the rural schools near Macomb. She is the accomplished daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Morris of Macomb, Ill. She was dressed in white crepe with white accessories and her bridesmaid was dressed in yellow with yellow accessories, while the groom and best man wore light summer suits. A reception and six o'clock dinner was served at the home of the bride's parents. The young couple will visit in Griggsville a few days, then Mr. Love will take summer school at I. S. W. T. C. in preparation for his work as science teacher and coach in the Griggsville Community High school next year.

MOTHER AND QUINTUPLETS HOLD WORLD SPOTLIGHT

Five living examples which prove that the age of miracles has not passed are shown here—the quintuplets born to Mrs. Olive Dionne, left, in her log cabin home at Corbett, Ont. Despite physicians' fears that they could not live, the five girls are thriving under devoted care, with offers of aid coming from all parts of the continent. The children, whose combined weight at birth was 13 pounds 6 ounces, have been named, Cecile, Yvonne, Marie, Emily, and Annette. Ernest Dionne, the father, is 31; the mother, 24.

Hauck Jury Unable to Reach Verdict and is Discharged

Jurors who heard evidence in the trial of Louis P. Hauck, accused of embezzling funds while he was assistant city treasurer of Jacksonville, were discharged at 11:30 o'clock Sunday morning without arriving at a verdict.

The deadlock was apparent after the first few hours when the jury began deliberation Saturday afternoon. The case was before the jury more than 20 hours.

Judge Victor Hemphill who presided during the trial left the city Saturday evening for his home in Carlinville, leaving instructions with Judge Walter Wright of this city as to the jury. Judge Wright discharged them from further service after being informed by the members that they were hopelessly deadlocked.

The court was informed Monday morning that the jury was split 8 to 4, but no official announcement was made as to which way the vote stood. However, reliable sources indicated the final vote was 8 to 4 for conviction. A large number of ballots were taken. As a result of the failure to agree, the case against Hauck remains on the records and yesterday there was no official indication of what action will be taken in the future.

States Attorney W. H. Absber said he had not determined what action he will pursue. There is doubt, it is understood, if the case will be retried during this term of court.

Hauck still is charged with embezzlement of $2,400 of the city's special assessment money, but another trial will be necessary to decide his fate.

The jury remained up until 1:30 o'clock Sunday morning, after which the members were taken to a hotel and retired. Arising early, the jury went back to the court house for another session without results.

Blame Diphtheria for Death of Boy

White Hall, June 4.—Lowell Ray Ralston, aged seven years, died at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Ralston at Patterson, Thursday evening at 5 o'clock, with what two doctors had diagnosed as tonsillitis. Arrangements were made for a public funeral in the Patterson Baptist church, Saturday afternoon. But Saturday morning the child's sister, Mary Catherine, age nine years became ill and was brought to the office of Dr. W. H. Garrison, who diagnosed her illness as diphtheria, and gave orders to have the boy's funeral made private which was done in the Pine Tree cemetery north of Patterson Saturday afternoon, with Rev. John Alexander of Hillview officiating.

Also all children who had been in contact with the boy were ordered to have diphtheria serum administered, which is being done, so far as the family had been able to recall those who had been in the home.

Lowell Ray Ralston is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Ralston and the following brothers and sisters, Harry, Carl, Ruth and Mary Catherine at home, and Mrs. John Nolan of White Hall, and by his grand parents, Mrs. Mary Brown of Patterson and Edward Ralston of Patterson.

His three uncles, Charles Tatman, Glen and Roy Ralston, and his teacher, Eugene Blair were the pall bearers. His two aunts, Mrs. Charles Tatman and Mrs. Edith Browning, and two cousins, Ellen Tatman and Ruth Callender cared for the flowers.

Harry Todd Heads Beardstown Alumni

Beardstown, June 4.—The Beardstown High school alumni association has new officers for 1935 in Harry Todd, 31, president; Robley Millard, 28, vice president; Catherine Coleman, 28, secretary; E. Miller Dunn, 37, treasurer.

The classes of 1914, 1919 and 1924 celebrated their anniversaries and sat at specially decorated and reserved tables. Harold Peterson of 1924 spoke for his class and introduced Charles Schr, boy soprano soloist in an Oak Park Presbyterian church, who sang several numbers for the occasion.

Archie Hagener, alumnus of Beardstown, and now principal of one of Detroit's high schools, paid a fitting tribute to Miss Elva J. Saunders, deceased member of the Beardstown faculty, and a veteran teacher.

Two communications from alumni who could not attend were read before the group. Miss Elizabeth Norbury, 1876, sent a letter and Attorney Clair Cullenbine sent a telegram to the association.

Some of the out-of-town people who attended the meeting were U. S. Marshal Paul Ruppel and Mrs. Ruppel, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Peterson, Oak Park; Byron Denton, Springfield; Helen Smith, Springfield; Archie Hagener of Detroit; Mrs. Edna Huss Fischer of St. Louis, and Miss Alberta Newdigate of Chicago.

The alumni association used the high school gymnasium for the banquet and dance. The Junior class annually gives the decorations for the Junior-Senior prom to the alumni for their use in the final entertainment of the graduating class.

Lutheran School Exercises Closing exercises for the St. John's Lutheran parochial school will be held June 5th at the hall in the evening.

The teachers of the school are R. C. Persigehl and Miss Margaret Schewe.

The program is as follows: Piano solo—Aurelia Schaefer. Play, "Who Left the Cupboard Bare"—Primary; Mother Hubbard, Betty J. Edwards; Tuffy, her dog, Dorothy Buescher; Tom, the Piper's Son, Junior Reither; The Knave of Hearts; Inez Carls; The Old Woman, Virginia Bockoc; Simple Simon, Edna Marie Rieck; The King of Hearts, Earl Wessel; The Queen of Hearts, Dolores Uder; Peter Piper, Myron Hoffman; Three Wise Men of Gotham, Dorothea Schaefer; Peggy Wells and Janice Carls; Mary, Quite Contrary, Darlene Bridgeman; Pussy

Play, "The Stolen Cat," Mary Wessel, Betty Thomas, Donald Krohe, Richard Looman, Carl Moeller, Carl Wulker.

Song, "The Old Pug Dog," Bill Tounley, George Lancaster, Willard Kormeyer, Herschel Schaefer, Norman Kormeyer, John Schaefer, Paul Schaefer, Billie Buescher.

Play, "Arthur's Dravery," Carl Snyder, Robert Hoffman, Jean Colvin, Virginia Wessel, Ernest Carls.

Salutatory, Graduating Class—George Wessel.

Valedictory, Graduating Class—Clarence Reither.

Presentation of Diplomas—Rev. Edwin Sommer.

Class song, Class of 1934.

Class roll—George Wessel, Vern Brockhouse, John Buescher, Ethan Allen Heller, Clarence Reither, Audrey Haber, Luville Snyder, Arthur Scheer, William Hering.

The Sunday school of the Congregational church will observe Children's Day Sunday, June 10. Practices are being held regularly under the leadership of Mrs. Vern VonFossen and Miss Rose Oetgen.

Carl Swanson, employed at the Roseview greenhouse here, spent Sunday with his parents and friends in Galesburg.

The city council warned water users in Beardstown to avoid wasteful use of water. Citizens were requested to take care to conserve the water supply during drought.

Mr. and Mrs. George Sawyer and Maurice Hagestrum spent the evening in Jacksonville, Friday.

John Adkins and Eugene Brodman were business callers in Canton Saturday.

Contest Ends With Grace S.S. Leading

The eight-week Sunday school contest that has been conducted between the Vermont Street M. E. church of Quincy, the First M. E. church of Springfield, and Grace M. E. church of this city came to a conclusion on Sunday. The final standing of the churches was as follows: Springfield, 230 points; Quincy, 260 points, and Jacksonville, 360 points.

There has been a great deal of interest developed in the local especially among the adults. To get 75 per cent of the total attendance on time week after week indicates unusual interest on the part of the local school. The various phases of the contest were so developed that they should create more interest in the work of the school and church.

At the morning service hour the baccalaureate sermon for the graduating class of MacMurray College was delivered by Dr. McClelland.

The High School League met at 6:30.

The first of union Sunday evening services was held in the auditorium of Grace church. Dr. Oxtoby delivered the sermon.

On Tuesday evening the Woman's Foreign and Home Missionary societies will hold a joint meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Hall. A potluck supper will be served at 6 o'clock followed by a program in which a missionary playlet will be the main feature.

The mid-week prayer service on Wednesday evening will continue the general subject "Great Christian Teachings." The pastor will lead the discussion.

The Standard Bearers will have a potluck supper at the home of Mrs. W. E. Hall on Thursday evening.

Next Sunday morning opportunity will be given for the baptism of infants and small children. Those desiring such service are requested to notify the pastor in advance if possible. Any desiring to be received into church membership are invited to be present.

IMPOSE NEW RESTRICTIONS ON I. S. D. ATHLETES

Jim Winn Elected Captain Of I.C. Basketball, Baseball For 1935; Meyer Heads Track

"Slim Jim" Winn, one of the most colorful players to participate in Illinois College athletics for a number of years, was re-elected to captain next year's basketball team, and captain of the spring athletic teams of Illinois College held last night at Baxter hall. Willie Meyer was elected to the captaincy of the track and field team, to succeed Paul Sweeney, who graduates this year.

Members of the three major spring team squads were entertained at the banquet, over which Athletic Director LaRue Van Meter presided. Approximately 50 persons were in attendance. Winn, who hails from Valer, was the second highest scorer in the Little 19 basketball conference this year, and was picked for all conference honors by both the Associated Press and the United Press. He was named a guard on the Associated Press first team, and was selected as the outstanding man in the conference by the United Press. He will be a senior next year.

Winn's baseball record has been outstanding for the past three years. Two years ago he filled in at first base when first basemen were hard to find, and completed the championship year with a record of only one error, and was near the top of the batting averages. This year Winn had two errors against his record in conference play, and was high up in the batting order, the team finishing in second position. Bruno Bierman who graduates this year, was elected captain for the season, but had to fulfill his duties from the bench because of a broken arm.

Wallie Meyer, high and low hurdler, and relay runner, who hails from Staunton, was picked to lead next year's team in a conquest for a Little 19 crown. The team finished in fifth place this year. Meyer will be a senior next year.

Faculty Speaks
Enthusiasm over the result of this year's successes, and predictions for greater athletic glory for the coming year were mentioned on every side. Members of the faculty and alumni expressed their appreciation for what had been done during the past seasons. At the same time, the heads of the various athletic teams expressed their hopes that the athletes would continue to keep the high scholastic average of the teams above faculty reproach.

President H. C. Jaquith, Carl E. Robinson, Walter Bellatti, Walter Bradish, Prof. Joe Patterson Smith, Dean Lacey, and Professors Oxtoby, Stratton and Fuller, and Business Manager M. M. Barlow spoke for the faculty and alumni of the college. Hubert Pearce gave the valedictory for the seniors, and Athletic Director

PICKED FOR STARS

JIM WINN

Stars and stripes mean nothing to this lanky boy. He was captain of the Illinois College basketball team during the past season, and he will captain the basketball team and baseball team during the coming year. Each captaincy carries with it a star, and each year of service carries a stripe on the honor sweaters awarded by the college.

Van Meter and Coach Raymond Nusspickel spoke.

Athletic Director Van Meter emphasized the importance of attaining high rank in scholastic endeavors, pointing out that the college had several applications from high schools this year for prospective coaches, but that they were unable to supply the demand.

Arlo Schumacher of Chapin was a visitor in the city Monday.

Paul Smith's Homer in 6th Before Wind, Rain Storm, Gives Indies First Victory

Paul Smith's four ply wallop that rolled down the bank in left field with one out in the sixth inning with the scored tied and a rain storm approaching rapidly, gave the Jacksonville Indies their first victory in the Illinois Valley League Sunday afternoon, the Indies nosing out the Roodhouse Blues by a 9-8 score.

Only one more man came to bat in the sixth before Umpire Tom Doyle stopped the game, first because of a dust storm that raged across the diamond, and then because of a downpour which left the field sticky.

Batsmen on both clubs were in a vicious mood and pitchers appeared to be getting in trouble all the time. Jim McCormick, who started for the local club, walked the second man up, gave the third a single and the fourth a single. On the throw in from the outfield to catch a man at the plate, McCormick was hit in the head by a ball thrown by Paul Smith, and was unable to continue. Frank Smith, Jr., entered the box and on the first ball thrown, Coffman hit into a double play retelling the side.

Roodhouse Takes Lead
Young Frank, who did Trojan duty against the Beardstown Clothiers a week ago, got into trouble in the second inning. Locker and Gibbons opening the round with singles, and the next two men getting on through fielder's choices, which were just a little too late to get put-outs. Whitaker singled to drive in a run, leaving the bases jammed. Shaw was safe when Rees was thrown out at third, and with only one out to go, Bill McCormick made a wild heave to first, letting in another run. Coffman fled out to end the inning. Roodhouse lead at that stage of the game 6-0.

But the lead did not stand long. The Indies started their scoring in the second inning. Coumbes getting on through a walk and scoring on Bill McCormick's triple down the left field foul line. McCormick scored on Wagner's long fly to center, cleaning the bases. Fisher beat out an infield hit, went to second when P. Smith rolled out, and moved up to third when Rees, Roodhouse tossed, issued two straight passes to fill the bases. Paul Smith cracked out a Texas league single to center driving in two more runs, and leaving the count 6-5. Smith got in trouble in the Roodhouse half of the third, but left three men stranded on the sacks.

Indies Forge to Front
A walk, issued to Coumbes, W. McCormick's single, followed by Wagner's single and a three base error by the Roodhouse centerfielder put the Indies out in front 8-6 in their half of the frame. Gibbons relieved Rees after Wagner got his home run on a single and held the Indies in check until the last half of the sixth.

Roodhouse got a run in the fourth after two men were out. Coffman getting on through a fielder's choice, Locker getting hit by a pitched ball, and Gibbons' single scoring the run. The Indies gave them the tying run in the fifth with two down, Shaw walking, going to second on P. Smith's error, and scoring when W. McCormick made a wild throw to first base. Roodhouse got two men out in their half of the sixth, but they were unable to score.

BEARDSTOWN BEATS WINCHESTER 14 TO 3

Beardstown, June 4.—(Special)—The Mac's Clothiers came out on top again Sunday afternoon in their battle with the Winchester boys in a heavy hitting game which ended in six and a half innings with the locals' out in front by a 14 to 3 score. The bunch from Scott county were dumped out of the undefeated class, and the Clothiers are the only remaining undefeated outfit in the Ivy League. The game broke up in the last of the seventh when the field became a dust cloud, and the Winchester lads thought it best to go home blessed with only a 14 to 3 loss.

The Mac's Clothes Shop donated three new neckties, Edwards, Stocker, and Beemer who parked the apple outside of the park. Dr. Henning also donated three one dollar bills to the Mac's players who hit homers. Davis, Winchester shortstop also caught hold of one, and drove in the only earned run for his team, the first two coming in as a result of two errors by Phillip and a passed ball by Stocker. The locals scored eight runs in the second inning off Pitcher Cumby, the spree being climaxed by a homer by Edwards with the bases loaded. Four men faced him in the inning, making eight runs off five hits and four errors. Edwards getting a single on his first trip to the plate.

Manager Gus Campbell is now planning to secure a game with the Illinois College Blueboys for Thursday afternoon, but nothing definite has been decided. The box score of the game is as follows:

PRIMO CARNERA NAMED FAVORITE

By Edward J. Nell
Associated Press Sports Writer

New York, June 4.—(P)—That sleeping fistic giant—Max Baer's battle with Primo Carnera for the heavyweight championship—awoke with a jolt today as the first definite odds named the huge Italian a 3 to 5 favorite.

With the 15-round battle in the Madison Square Garden bowl only 10 days off, Jack Doyle, best known of all the fight betting commissioners, chalked up his slate today for the first time and the odds came as a shock to the faithful. He will take your money either way, of course. He will put up $3 against your $5 if you pick Carnera; $7 against your $5 if you bet on Baer.

A year ago after Baer knocked out Max Schmeling with a thunderous punching display and Carnera popped Jack Sharkey out in six rounds, Max probably would have entered the ring against the Italian monster a 3 to 1 favorite.

"These are tentative odds," Doyle said. "I'm offering no figures yet on a knockout. I want to get a better idea of Baer's real condition before laying a definite line. The number of inquiries I've received indicate this will be a big betting fight, though very little money has been wagered so far."

A full year's idleness, with motion picture efforts, night club activities and plenty of two-fisted fun-making apparently has dulled the magnificent fighting edge of Baer, who gobbled up Schmeling. He has been slow about, short winded, careless, and entirely too contented with himself to suit either his camp followers or the railbirds. He can still hit, but his sparring partners have jabbed and hooked him ragged.

Carnera, always intense in training, appears to be in magnificent condition already. Baer's jibes, his boasting, his monopoly of the situation seem to have fired the slower-witted Italian with something more than the normal hostility of prize fighters. He's gaining steadily in favor among the critics.

Woodson business visitors in Jacksonville yesterday included R. H. Blimling.

Begin Athletic Competition At 15 Years of Age; Protest Fails to Shake H. S. Board

Illinois School for the Deaf athletes will become eligible at the age of 15 years, a ruling passed by the Illinois High School Athletic Association board of control declares, the high school body placing new restrictions on the Tiger athletic teams. The ruling was made at a recent meeting of the board and will become effective next September when the school opens for its regular term.

In the future Illinois School for the Deaf athletes will become counting the period of their eligibility from the semester following their 15th birthday. The ruling, handed down by the board was protested by prior to its enactment by Managing Officer D. T. Cloud, and Coach S. Robey Burns, without success.

The change in eligibility rules at the I. S. D. means that Coach S. Robey Burns will have to change his plans for next year considerably, since he has a number of boys available who will be over the prescribed age limit. The remainder of the Illinois High School Athletic Association schools are permitted to use players until they are 20 years of age, but the ruling with virtually make it impossible for the Tigers to have boys in their line-up over 19 years of age.

The letter, sent to Managing Officer Cloud, and signed by C. W. Whitten, commissioner of the I. H. S. A. A., is as follows, and was taken from the minutes of the meeting at which the resolution was passed:

"Considerable time was devoted to a discussion of an adequate method of enforcing a semester limit in the case of the Illinois School for the Deaf at Jacksonville. Since the board of control has waived the requirement of Article 1, by laws in the case of I. S. D. ninth grade standing (Section 13, athletes, it becomes necessary to establish some arbitrary point to begin the count of the eight semesters to which competition is limited under the rules.

"After an extended discussion of all aspects of the case, it was regularly moved, seconded and unanimously carried that in determining the eight semesters of possible eligibility, under our rules, the counting of semesters must begin with the opening of the next semester after the athlete becomes 15 years of age.

"Principal Daniel T. Cloud, Mr. Doyle and Coach Robey Burns were present at the meeting to represent the interests of their school."

Coach Burns has long maintained that his athletes are far behind boys who are able to hear, in that the education of the hearing children begins before the education of the deaf starts. His contention is that mental-physical plays a large part in all of the games. Mr. Cloud objects to the ruling on the grounds that the I. S. D. was being discriminated against, and that the move seemed to be an effort on the part of school men to lower the efficiency of I. S. D. teams.

The communication which brought the news of the new age limit for I. S. D. athletes, also carried with it a reprimand for not sending the I. S. D. district championship track team to the state finals this year. Mr. Cloud in his reply to this charge, pointed out that the I. S. D. school closed the Wednesday following the finals at Champaign, and that examinations already were underway when the meet was being held.

Coach Burns immediately set about arranging a new plan for next fall's football team, which will play one of the heaviest schedules arranged for Tiger teams.

Legion Junior Team Loses Close Battle

Tie Score in Eighth But Nokomis Tallies Once in Final Frame

Spotting the Nokomis American Legion Junior team six runs in the second inning as a result of five hits and four errors, the Jacksonville Legion Juniors succeeded in tying the score in the eighth inning only to be nosed out in the final frame on a close play at the plate.

The Nokomis team defeated Gillespie, the downstate champions of last year, 18-8, at Nokomis last Sunday. Nokomis will play the Jacksonville American Legion at Jacksonville on the Mauvasterre diamond next Saturday, June 9.

President McClelland Gives Baccalaureate Of MacMurray College

President C. P. McClelland of MacMurray College delivered the Baccalaureate sermon Sunday morning to the Senior class of MacMurray College before a large audience at Grace M. E. church.

Professor Henry Ward Pearson played the Processional at the graduating class and the faculty, preceded by President McClelland, President Emeritus Joseph R. Harker, Rev. Alvah H. Lawrence, Rev. Charles H. Thrall and Rev. F. A. Havighurst, impressively entered the auditorium.

Dr. Havighurst offered the invocation and Rev. Alvah H. Lawrence the morning prayer. During the service the MacMurray College choir beautifully rendered the anthems "Holy Art Thou" and "The Lord is My Shepherd" with Miss Louise Bredehoeft singing the incidental solo.

Following the responsive reading, led by President Emeritus Joseph R. Harker, President McClelland gave the Baccalaureate sermon, taking his theme from the fifth chapter of St. John, third and fourth verses—"The multitude waiting for the water to bubble."

He said: The crowd waiting for the water to bubble, with the expectation that they would then plunge in and be cured, suggests a certain tendency in human nature—very common among people today—the tendency to trust in the external, the sensational, the evanescent, the miraculous, to supply a deficiency in their own inner life. Not six years ago there was in this country a boundless, well-nigh universal faith in endless mechanical progress. The economic problem was to be solved by triumphant machinery, mass production, ever higher wages, ever increasing purchasing power, less and less hours of work per week, an ever rising market, ever expanding profit and limitless speculation.

Well, that bubble like the South Sea bubble and the Mississippi bubble, in the early eighteenth century, soon burst, and in its train came the inevitable reaction. Four and one-half years of depression, with millions of people made miserable, disillusioned, baffled, beaten. What a bitter experience it has been! Has it cured us? Are our people no longer trusting in bubbles, no longer relying upon something external, some magic formula, some spectacular, all sufficient plan or program?

Henry A. Wallace, Secretary of Agriculture, in his recent book, Statesmanship and Religion, has an interesting description of the Great Seal of the United States. We are all familiar with the obverse side of this Seal, showing the American Eagle grasping in his left talon 13 arrows, in his right talon an olive branch with 13 leaves, on its breast a shield with 13 bars and above the eagle 13 stars, accompanied by the inscription "E Pluribus Unum," all this signifying unity in diversity.

But we are not so familiar with the reverse side of the Seal. On this side we first see an uncompleted pyramid with 13 courses of stone laid, and above it, separated by some little distance, an apex or capstone with an all-seeing eye, surrounded by what is usually called a "glory." Above the apex stone is the Latin inscription "Annuit Coepit," which might be translated "He hath prospered our beginning;" written under the base of the pyramid are the Latin words "Novus Ordo Seclorum" which might be translated "New Order of the Ages." Mr. Wallace thinks the author of the phrase "Novus Ordo Seclorum" might have had in mind the Day of the Lord as foreseen by Isaiah. Enthusiastic and loyal democrats, of course, might claim that "Novus Ordo" is merely Latin for the New Deal, but even Secretary Wallace does not go quite that far.

Is the New Deal going to save us? Is there salvation in any "Novus Ordo"? Do not interpret what I am saying as meaning that I am opposed to the New Deal. I believe it to be a courageous and, on the whole, intelligent program which, if followed, would undoubtedly result in needed reforms and a substantial advance toward recovery. But what I am trying to make clear is that by no mere program or deal or re-arrangement of things can economic, or any other kind of salvation come.

Mankind has always been subject to illusions. One of these is that the way to national greatness is war, victorious war, of course. That was particularly strong in men's minds during the early part of the present century. It resulted in the World war, the most destructive, devastating, and hellish event in all history, which stands as the supreme monument to the folly, if not the wickedness, of civilized man. Today, sixteen years later, all those nations, arrayed on one side or the other in the World war, are in serious trouble as the direct result of following what Norman Angell calls the "Great Illusion." And now what? Well, in Europe there is a very definite tendency to trust in some spectacular plan, whether it be Fascism or Socialism or Communism. And what I desire to impress particularly upon you this morning is that there is no salvation inherent in any one of these doctrines or programs.

Jesus had in mind an ideal society. He called it the Kingdom of God. While he said a good deal about the nature of the Kingdom of God, he did not set forth a definite, detailed program for its realization. He remarked that the kingdom "cometh not by observation." It is a tribute to his supreme wisdom that instead of a program, he laid down principles which, if practiced by individual men and women, would ultimately result in the transformation of society not suddenly, of course, but as yeast transforms a measure of meal, slowly, gradually, bit by bit. Of course, this was too slow for many of Christ's immediate followers, and they have had a multitude of successors through the centuries right up to now—people who think that Jesus must have meant something else, whose minds were filled with apocalyptic dreams, and who could not conceive of the Kingdom of God coming except in some miraculous or spectacular way.

Billy Sunday used to preach a very vivid sermon on the millennium, in which he pictured Christ suddenly returning to earth, destroying his enemies and establishing the kingdom in a blaze of splendor. "This," said Mr. Sunday, "might come at any moment," and then he went on to picture how individual men and women engaged in the ordinary occupations of life would be snatched away suddenly up in the air to meet their Lord.

But all this, perhaps, is too general. I am thinking of you, members of the graduating class, as individuals on the threshold of maturity, each to enter more fully into life and to take on larger responsibilities. My message to you this morning is, do not wait for the water to bubble; do not trust in bubbles at all. The Kingdom of God is within you. Look within.

Truth is within ourselves; it takes no rise From outward things, whatever you may believe. There is an inmost centre in us all Where truth abides in fulness.

Have you that inner preparation of heart, those qualities of mind and character which will insure your success, no matter where your lot may be cast?

Have you an adequate philosophy of life? I trust so. Some think that the purpose of a college course is to prepare young people for some occupation, to make good teachers of history or of public school music. I do not think so. I understand the practical necessity of being prepared to earn your own living, but what college really should do is to give you a workable theory of things—an adequate philosophy of life. If you have acquired that at MacMurray, your time has been well spent.

What does an adequate philosophy of life include? Well, a number of elements, which I shall not mention this morning, but I do want to emphasize as fundamental that life itself with its strange mixture of work and leisure, of joy and sorrow, is of the greatest significance, not a trivial thing to be wasted and thrown away, but a wonderful gift, to be prized, used, and developed. But this, you say, is obvious. Well, perhaps it seems so at this moment, in this place; but if you are familiar with contemporary literature, produced, say, during the past ten or fifteen years, and I know you are, surely you are aware that in much of it life appears to be futile or even cruel and sordid.

There are many prophets of pessimism—Theodore Dreiser, Sherwood Anderson, Edgar Lee Masters, Sinclair Lewis, and a host of others. I do not mean to say that what they have written serves no good purpose; at least they have compelled us to take into account the existence of what some choose to call the "brutal facts of life," which surely should not be ignored in any adequate philosophy of life. There are bad spots. Here are some: The imminence of war, the decline in democracy in Europe, the crime and corruption prevalent in our own country where democracy still exists. We should not overlook these things.

But, after all, it is just as foolish to be too realistic as to be too romantic or idealistic. Anatole France tells us how he first learned this lesson. It was while he was in college—a third rate college. His surroundings were drab and dingy. He was sitting with some of his fellow students in a shabby room. Out of doors it was a dreary day, the rain poured down dimly; inside there was a disagreeable smell of fried fish; there were greasy dishes all about, and dirty pewter mugs, but one of the boys was reading from Shakespeare the story of Antony and Cleopatra, and somehow there came to him in a flash the realization that life might be noble and glorious. And it is true that life anywhere, in any surroundings, may be noble and glorious. It is the something more in life, the thing which Peter Bell missed, that counts so much.

Everything depends upon what is within us. Of course, if we are not properly equipped in mind and heart, we shall miss the true and spiritual significance of life, but we need not miss it.

And perspective is so important! The realist fails here also. He does not see things in right proportions or in right relations.

We need the long look mentally and spiritually. It is this that gives us perspective. Gamaliel Bradford, in one of his letters published in the May issue of the Atlantic Monthly, wrote, "To understand the present at all there is only one clue, the study of the past, and to get any meaning or profit from current literature the only way to keep one's steady hold on the great writers of an earlier day. If you have a command of foreign languages, read the great authors in those, though never, never in translation. At any rate, always give a certain proportion of your time and life, however small, to the great English authors. It is not enough to have read them; read them and keep on reading them. Shakespeare and Milton and Fielding and Sterne and Shelley and Byron are the best possible commentary on Shaw and Wells and Masfield and Lewis and Dreiser. We read the classics not only for themselves, but because they have helped make the modern world what it is, because others have read them and are reading them and will read them, and they make a substantial, enduring, spiritual bond in a world which, from its terrible rapidity of centrifugal motion, tends to dissolve and shatter our spiritual unity altogether."

We need the long look backward, but we also need the long look forward. Harry Emerson Fosdick recently said "Let all hard-headed realists take notice; no fact is the whole of itself; its possibilities are the rest of it." With proper perspective, you will see that certain virtues, always discounted by shortsighted people, are necessary to real success. Experience is a great teacher.

Young folks are smart, but all ain't good that's new; I guess the gran'thers they nowed somethin' tu.

Lowell also wrote: In vain we call old notions fudge, And bend our conscience to our dealing. The ten commandments will not budge, And stealing will continue stealing.

The experience of many generations has proven that certain propensities of human nature are bad; others good. I want to emphasize now an indispensable quality. Recently, the General Motors Corporation decided it would be good business to find out what the owners and potential buyers of automobiles considered the most important general characteristics in a car. In response to a questionnaire, several hundred thousand replies were received. A number of characteristics had many votes: speed, economy, appearance, comfort, but the one that led all the rest was dependability.

What the world wants to know about you is whether you are dependable. Can you be depended upon to do what is expected or demanded of you in any situation? I think it was Dwight L. Moody who defined character as "what a man is in the dark." Can God and your fellow man depend upon you? If you should write down "dependability" as the most important of virtues, you would not miss it very much.

I think it was Marshall Foch who said, "Every soldier must see his general." Philip Sidney wrote of Alexander the Great, "he well found he received more bravery of mind by the pattern of Achilles than by hearing the definition of fortitude." And so, as I close, I remind you of the Master. You need to keep him in mind constantly, and you will learn more about the development of the inner life from him than from all else. He had a philosophy of life, the best philosophy which we know anything about. It was his own. He made it for himself, compounded of old elements and new. You remember what he said about the wise man bringing forth his treasure store things old and new and how he said that "not a jot of tittle of the law should be destroyed until all be fulfilled; at the same time "it hath been said of old—but I say unto you."

What perspective he had! Indeed, I think it may be said that His was the only true perspective. He put things forever in their right relations. As civilization moves forward, it goes inevitably in the direction of His view of life. Secretary Wallace, in the book to which I have already referred, remarks: "For 1900 years it seemed that the Sermon on the Mount was economic nonsense; now its realization is not only possible, it's the only way out of chaos."

The world can depend upon Jesus. You can depend upon Him.

Hush be the noise and the strife of the schools, Volume and pamphlet, sermon and speech, The lips of the wise and the prattle of fools Let the Son of Man teach. Who has the way of the future but He? Who can unravel the knots in the skein? We have groaned and have travailed and sought to be free: We have travailed in vain. Bewildered, dejected and prone to despair, To him, as at first do we turn and beseech; Our ears are all open. Give heed to our prayer. Oh, Son of Man, teach.

Forty and eight train wins first place at Alton. The French locomotive owned by the Morgan county venture of the Forty and Eight was awarded first prize at the Fifth Division American Legion convention at Alton Sunday. The place carried with it $30 in prize money.

A large delegation of Jacksonville Legion members attended the convention including the Jacksonville State hospital ex-service men's band. The Jacksonville band headed the parade but was not in competition for prize money. In the parade were 16 bands and drum corps numbering about 1,250 persons.

The Alton Telegraph of Monday states "For the police department the convention brought no tribulations excepting extra duty to handle traffic. There were a number of drunks taken into custody but they were not Legionnaires, nor the convention visitors. The city's guests got into no trouble."

Grant Hughes and Wilbert Hauck of this city were the victims of a sneak thief, who stole money from their hotel room, it is reported. Arcadia was represented here Monday by Frank Rolf.

Chapin. Miss Jennie Guinane returned Saturday from Chicago where she had spent the past winter. Miss Jennie's many friends are delighted to have her home again.

IDENTIFY BODY OF MAN KILLED IN GREENE COUNTY

Find Stranger Victim of Auto Mishap Was Lewis Ball of Bellview

Roodhouse, June 4.—Identification of the man fatally injured in an automobile accident here last Saturday night was made today, when it was learned that the victim of the mishap is Lewis Ball of Bellview, Ill. Mr. Ball was killed when he was struck by an automobile on the streets here.

The decedent had been hitch hiking thru the country with a companion who missed him after leaving Roodhouse. The companion, whose name was not learned, notified Alton relatives of Ball, and they telephoned his home at Bellview, and identification was then made. The body was removed to the home of his step-mother, Mrs. Anna Ball this afternoon.

Ball was 51 years of age, and is survived by one brother, of Mosier, Ill. He was a painter by trade but had been unemployed for some time. Burial will be at Fox Creek.

The Fire Department was called early Monday morning to the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Kupfer where their home was burning. It is not exactly how the fire started. Mr. Kupfer however had lit the coal oil stove and gone out doors and when he returned to the house the roof and side walls were burning. The damage resulted more when the water soaked everything in the room, and a place was also torn in the roof so that the hose could reach the fire. Mrs. Kupfer's kitchen cabinet was burned but otherwise no household goods burned.

Wesley Hofbom of this city and Miss Margaret Bridgman of Bluffs were married in Jacksonville Friday and will make their home in this city, where Mr. Hofbom is a bridge tender. Their many friends wish for them a long and happy wedded life.

BEGIN STATE SURVEY TO DETERMINE NEEDS OF DROUTH STRICKEN

Springfield, Ill., June 4.—(AP)—A survey to determine just how much assistance is needed by drought stricken farmers in Illinois was started today by the state department of agriculture.

J. H. Lloyd, who as assistant director of agriculture is Governor Horner's drought relief administrator, said the data obtained would be used in an effort to place Illinois in the New York relief program farmers started over the week-end by the Roosevelt administration.

Lloyd sent telegrams into all counties asking for estimates on: 1. The livestock feed requirements of farmers who must be financed by loans from the Illinois Emergency Relief Commission. 2. The number of additional farmers who must purchase hay and grain to supplement their drought burned crops.

While Lloyd went to Chicago for a series of relief conferences, Director of Agriculture W. W. McLaughlin started to get information on how much extra seed will be needed in the planting of emergency crops.

Lloyd said that the oats crop probably will average ten bushels an acre, instead of 35, and that is 20 to 25 percent below normal.

Because of drought and chinich bugs, he predicted that Illinois corn might be a 50 percent loss.

DEMOCRATS WILL WAGE CAMPAIGN

Chicago, June 4.—(AP)—Ignoring the public attack upon their party policies by state Republicans, committeemen of the state Democratic organization met here with leaders today in executive session and adjourned with the simple statement that Democrats would wage a vigorous campaign in the fall elections.

No public statement was given as to what went on in the meeting, but attendants said the state branch of the party would organize headquarters at Springfield about July 1.

Meeting with the committeemen was Governor Henry Horner, State Chairman Bruce A. Campbell and heads of Cook county's Democratic organization. John Stelle, McLeanboro, nominee for state treasurer, John Wieland, Calumet City, nominee for superintendent of public instruction, and Martin Brennan, Bloomington, and Michael Igoe, Chicago, nominees for congressmen, at large, also were on hand.

PRESIDENT OF NOTRE DAME DAME SUCCEDES TODAY

South Bend, Ind., June 4.—Father Charles L. O'Donnell, for almost six years president of Notre Dame University, died from a streptococcus infection early today.

The illness had incapacitated Father O'Donnell for more than a year. The last rites of the Catholic church were administered to the dying priest several weeks ago, but he rallied and for a time appeared better.

Elected president of Notre Dame in 1928 for a three year term, he was re-elected in 1931. His term would have expired next month, for a president can serve Notre Dame only six years.

Father O'Donnell's last public appearance was exactly a year ago today when he appeared at the 1933 commencement exercises and presented the golden jubilee laureate medal to John McCormack, famous singer. The 1934 commencement was held only yesterday.

The Rev. John P. O'Hara, C.S.C., appointed vice-president of the university last July, will serve out the remainder of the Rev. O'Donnell's term as acting president.

Among the Waverly visitors in the local community yesterday was Frank Dwyer.

Clyde Taylor of Chapin spent Monday in the city calling on friends.

VETERAN TO RECEIVE HONORS IN DEATH HE WAS DENIED IN LIFE

Omaha, Neb., June 4.—(AP)—A veteran of both the Blue and the Gray, Henry Stephen Smith, 92, will receive in death the honors that were denied him while alive.

Smith, who died here Friday while believing—erroneously—he was a man without a flag, will be buried with full military honors—a firing squad, a bugler, a G.A.R. button in his lapel.

Friday night he died; Saturday morning's mail brought to his attorney a long-sought document—his discharge from the army, denied him since he deserted during the Indian campaign at Niobrara, Neb., after the Civil war. The discharge, ironically, was dated May 29.

While serving in the Civil war with a West Virginia company, Smith was captured by the Confederates. To gain his freedom he agreed to fight for the South. A month later he was captured by Union soldiers and finished the war with the North.

While serving at Niobrara after the war, he related Memorial Day, he deserted because of grumbling among the men. Several years ago relatives opened the seemingly dead vault campaign to obtain his discharge.

The belated discharge assured Smith of a military funeral. A firing squad and bugler from Fort Crook will accompany the body to the grave.

Extortionist Slain by Police; Innocent Man Also is Victim

Phoenix, Ariz., June 4.—(AP)—An extortionist's greed for $3,500 cost him his life in a police trap and brought death to a sleeping innocent man.

"A martyr to the law's campaign against kidnapers and extortionists," federal agents called Robert Perkins, 29, who was fatally wounded in bed by one of the bullets intended for Louis Walsh, 30.

A coroner's jury was called today to hear the story of the two deaths which early yesterday climaxed Walsh's attempt to extort $3,500 from I. Diamond, wealthy department store owner.

Walsh was killed in the road of riot guns, rifles and revolvers fired from ambush by federal agents and police. They opened fire when he threw the money from him and fled. He was challenged immediately after receiving the currency from his intended victim.

The money fell in Perkins' yard, not far from the porch cot where his parents found him dying.

An extortion letter which lay unopened for three days in the Diamond home, threatened death or injury to the department store owner and his family unless $3,500 was paid. The letter was opened Memorial day. Diamond notified authorities who for days missed trapping the extortionist by minutes. The demands were signed "The Black Three." Investigators do not know whether others were in the plot.

The ambush was so well laid Walsh apparently had no inkling of it. As he accepted the packet from Diamond on a street corner he said, "Everything will be all right."

A moment later, startled at the cry of "halt," he hurled the money away and ran. He was shot down in full stride.

RECENT CRITICS OF GOVERNOR ROLPH ARE AMONG HIS MOURNERS

San Francisco, June 4.—(AP)—Men who a few months ago sharply criticized Gov. James Rolph, Jr., for his approval of a lynching became mourners at his funeral here today.

Former President Herbert Hoover headed a line of dignitaries in final tribute to the California governor whose death Saturday smoothed away their controversy over the mob hanging at San Jose of the two kidnapers of Brooke L. Hart.

Shortly after the lynching last November, Mr. Hoover signed a statement issued by prominent civic leaders condemning the mob's action and Governor Rolph's declaration that "it will show the rest of the country what California does to kidnapers."

That the criticism did not extend beyond the lynching incident was made clear by Mr. Hoover when he declared after Governor Rolph's death that his long service to his city and state "will be held in grateful remembrance."

Three prominent San Francisco church leaders, Archbishop Edward J. Hanna of the Catholic Archdiocese, Rabbi Irving F. Reichert and Dean J. Wilmer Gresham of the Episcopal Grace Cathedral, who also opposed the governor's attitude on the lynching, were to officiate the public service at the city hall.

Before leaving Los Angeles for San Francisco, Acting Governor Frank P. Merriam released his first proclamation—all in memory of his predecessor.

Private services will be held from the Rolph home tomorrow.

QUINTUPLETS CAN NOT ATTEND FAIR; HIT BY ATTACK OF JAUNDICE

Corbelle, Ont., June 4.—(AP)—Jaundice gripped the Dufour quintuplets today but their physician, Dr. A. R. Dufour, said their condition was not alarming.

The week old infants, however, will not be on exhibit at the Chicago world's fair this summer.

Dr. Dufour, who is designated in a contract to determine whether the five sisters will go to Chicago, said a trip outside the province of Ontario would be extremely dangerous and that he would not consent to it.

Olivia Dionne, father of the babies, had signed a contract guaranteeing the family $250 a week and 30 percent of the gate receipts while at the fair.

Dr. Dufour said jaundice was not unusual in infants and they had excellent chances to live.

Tension Still Grips Havana; Crisis Near

Distribution of a Gratuity Splits Cabinet; Rule May Become Militaristic

By EDMUND A. CHESTER (Associated Press Foreign Staff) Havana, June 4.—(AP)—A crisis in the Cuban cabinet, it was learned on highest authority today, is the result of a disagreement of palace attaches over the distribution of a $1,500 gratuity recently voted them by the cabinet.

The question of whether military or civil authorities are going to run the country, it was made known, did not figure in the latest rift which came as terrorists fired shots in the air yesterday.

Dr. Gabriel Landá, secretary of communications, said "some persons are trying to make a state issue out of personal disagreements."

A grant of $400 was made President Mendieta's aide, Captain Gustavo Aragon, who has asked to be relieved of his post. Emeterio Santo Venia, secretary to the president who has now resigned, was designated to distribute $1,500 to palace employees.

Major Franco Granero, Mendieta's military aide, protested to the president that he did not believe presidential aides should accept a gratuity.

Santo Venia took issue with him and, apparently considering Granero's attitude a military interference with palace and civil authority, resigned.

"If the country wants to live under the heel of the military boot it is all right with me," he said, "but the moment has arrived when the government must define itself." As secretary to the president Santo Venia raised a civil war member.

A cabinet session was scheduled today in an effort to smooth out the trouble.

Oxville. Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Reichert of Roxana are visiting a few days since decoration with her mother, Mrs. Carolina Merriman.

Storm Puts Out 250 Telephones in City

Linemen and other employees of the Illinois Telephone Co. were being kept busy Monday repairing damage done by the wind and rainstorm Sunday. About 250 telephones in Jacksonville were put out of commission. Wind blew down wires and some poles, and lightning did its share of the damage. Extra men were put to work on the lines Monday to repair the breaks and reconnect the telephones. Traffic on the wires was considerably hampered and many subscribers had to wait several hours to get their service renewed.

Eyes of the Fleet Shine in Review

In a magnificent spectacle climaxing the greatest U. S. naval review since World War days, Uncle Sam's fighting planes from the carriers Saratoga and Lexington soared, dipped, and wheeled in intricate maneuvers, then flew in formation over President Roosevelt's reviewing ship, the Indianapolis, as shown in this impressive picture, taken off Ambrose lightship, New York harbor.

Churches Unite in First Sunday Night Service of Summer

Prof. F. B. Oxtoby preached the first of the series of Sunday evening sermons Sunday night at the Grace Methodist church.

Taking as his subject "The Holy Land," Dr. Oxtoby pointed out that the Bible is essentially an oriental book. It is, therefore, often difficult for us of the west to read it with any adequate degree of understanding. In order that we might have a better background for the appreciation of this greatest of all books, Prof. Oxtoby undertook to describe some of the characteristics of the land which produced our Bible. He mentioned the smallness of its territory and the unique out-of-door quality of its life.

The people of Palestine lived out of doors and it is this sort of life that is reflected in the Psalms and in the Parables of Jesus. Dr. Oxtoby also called attention to the simplicity of the food which the oriental eats and his quaint habit of carrying with him on every journey a sufficient quantity for his use.

One of the obstacles to our understanding of the Bible which Dr. Oxtoby mentioned is our failure to appreciate the meaning of many of the figures of speech which the oriental uses. For example, when the Syrian speaks of "dry land" he is not necessarily using it to mean what we would mean by it. All that he would intend to convey might be that in crossing a river by "dry end" it was easy to cross and that the water was not very deep at that point. When a certain man could not immediately leave all to follow Jesus, because he must "bury his father," he did not mean that his father was actually dead, but merely that it was his duty to stay at home with parents to take care of them in their old age and bury them when the time did come.

It is only through our ability to better appreciate and understand the every-day customs and manner of speaking and thinking which characterize these people of the East that we are able to enter fully into the heritage of our Bible and the message and teachings of Jesus.

Rev. Mr. Havighurst presided at the service. Prayers were offered by Rev. Lothian and Rev. Charles Thrall. Rev. W. A. Richards read the scripture lesson. Mrs. Helen Brown Read was in charge of the service of music and also sang a soprano solo. A group of five negro girls under the direction of Arenia Mallory sang two very delightful spirituals. These girls are from the Industrial and Literary School at Lexington, Miss.

The Rev. T. H. Marsh of the Baptist church will be the preacher next Sunday evening.

Hold Hooper Rites in Jersey County

Jerseyville, June 4.—Leslie Louis Hooper, a resident of the Union Forest vicinity, died at his home Saturday morning, June 2nd, at four ten o'clock. Death ensued following an illness of five months' duration.

At the time of his death the deceased was seventy-five years, four months and four days of age. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Sarah Hooper, one son, William Hooper, one daughter, Mrs. Edward McGowan, and one sister, Mrs. Charles Kirchner. Funeral services were held at the Union Forest church, Monday, June 4th, at two o'clock. Interment in the White cemetery.

The deceased was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hooper of Germany, and was born near Jerseyville, January 18th, 1859. For many years he engaged in farming and threshing in the Union Forest vicinity.

Will Receive Degree
Miss Theresa Kieley, daughter of Mrs. Mary Kieley and the late Richard Kieley of Jerseyville, will receive the Bachelor of Science degree in nursing Tuesday morning, June 5th, at the 116th annual commencement of St. Louis University.

The program will be held that morning at ten o'clock in the university gymnasium, 3672 West Pine boulevard and the Most Reverend John Joseph Glennon, D. D., will deliver the commencement address.

Miss Kieley has been studying at the University for a number of years, carrying her work there in addition to her duties as Assistant Superintendent of Nurses at St. John's hospital. For the past ten years, she has been connected with St. John's hospital, where she began her training for a nurse after leaving Jerseyville. Four years ago she was given the position of assistant superintendent because of her excellent rating and interest in the work. In preparation for her degree, Miss Kieley went to New York one summer to take up some special work at Columbia University.

Man Wounds Self With Shotgun at Home in Virginia

Virginia, June 4.—Leo Matthews of this city is near death as the result of a self-inflicted shotgun wound in his head. He was found on the floor of his kitchen at 11:40 o'clock this morning after he fired the shotgun at least 13 times, one of the charges striking his head.

It is believed the first charge of shot wounded him. Persons who visited the scene expressed belief that Matthews kept reloading and firing the weapon in attempt to end his life, but that the shots went wild.

Eight holes were found in the walls and others in the ceiling. One charge of shot tore through the side of a cupboard. Thirteen empty shells were found near the wounded man.

Neighbors heard the volley of shots and several men investigated, finding Matthews in a critical condition. He was removed to the Schmitt Memorial hospital at Beardstown in Massie's ambulance.

Matthews lived alone, his wife having died in 1932.

IF IN DOUBT HAVE THEM EXAMINED.

Some motorists absent-mindedly pull out from a curb without first looking around for cars coming from the rear. This is the direct cause of hundreds of accidents. Put out your arm or open the car door as a warning before starting. You may be the next one to cause a terrible mishap if you are not on the lookout when you pull away from a curb.

DISCUSS PAVING OF PUBLIC SQUARE AT COUNCIL MEET

Talk City Scales To Weigh Trucks Hauling Merchandise Session

Speeding up the use of funds available to this city out of its share of the gasoline tax, and a discussion concerning a proposed ordinance establishing a city scales, were the chief matters brought before the city council at its regular meeting last night at the city council chambers.

Mayor W. A. Wainright, who presided over the meeting, announced that a representative of the state highway department would be in the city Friday to look over the local street situation.

Whether to go ahead with the square resurfacing project, already approved by the state highway department as a project which could be paid for out of the city's share of the gasoline taxes, or to select some other project will be decided shortly. State highway department representatives who recently visited the city were said to be in favor of the public square project, the resurfacing and repaving of the wood block part of College avenue, and the repaving or resurfacing of North Main street between Walnut and the city limits.

Talk of an ordinance which would make it mandatory for trucks hauling merchandise into the city for delivery to weigh at the city scales, was shorted, but members of the council expressed their belief that the need for such a scale was dire. They believed that by installing a city scale they could eliminate some of the troubles attending unregulated hauling, particularly of coal.

City Attorney Orville Foreman was commissioned to interview a local abstracting agency in an effort to trace out property to which the city now has title, and to discover how the city came into the title. He is to report at the next meeting of the council.

Talk Minor Matters.

The remainder of the session was spent in a discussion of minor matters. The mayor reported that he had received a number of protests from property owners near the J. C. Cohen and Sons rendering works. City Attorney Foreman told that the boilers on the Washburn railroad track the scene of several "nudist" exhibitions early this year, have been removed. Alderman Cox, chairman of the building committee, said that bids were still coming in for repairing the roof of the city hall, but that no more bids would be received.

The council closed its session with a discussion of insurance policies issued to protect automobiles driven by the police and fire departments. Heads of the departments were instructed to look after the insurance in their departments. The mayor also read a report from the state department of sanitation to the effect that both the north and south side sewage treatment plants were doing satisfactory work, and answered a question to the effect that there would be two sewage manholes on South Main street when the present paving project is completed.

Deem Rapp, who made an affidavit to the effect that he had lost the coupons from three bonds of special assessment 220, after they were presented for a pro-rata payment last year, was voted the regular interest on the bonds despite his failure to present the coupons.

Reports of Jerry Hawk, justice of peace, Chief of Police Frank Baker, the water department, the city clerk, and the liquor control commission were read and placed on file. All property approved claims against the city were ordered paid when the money is available.

MRS. GEORGE PRATT DIES IN CLEVELAND

C. L. Roid of Webster Avenue received word yesterday of the death of his sister, Mrs. George T. Pratt of Cleveland, Ohio, which occurred Sunday evening. Mrs. Pratt is a former resident of Jacksonville. She is survived by three daughters and one son.

Funeral services will be held this afternoon in Cleveland.

Roadhouse

Roadhouse, June 4.—Coach Foster Keagle and wife left Saturday for Naperville, Ill., and will start from there on June 5th, driving to New York City where the coach is enrolled for a four week term at the New York University School of Physical Education. The following six weeks they will spend at the Physical Education Camp of the University, at Palsades Park up the Hudson river. Coach Keagle attended the same summer school last year.

Miss Alma Shuman who taught the past term at Findley, Ill., is at home with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Shuman, for the summer vacation.

The Misses Grace, Emma, and Aveland Bricker entertained at a 6:30 o'clock dinner Friday evening at their home in Roadhouse in honor of the first wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Bricker, those present besides the hostesses and guests of honor being Mr. and Mrs. Ben Bricker and son Lyle and Miss Mary Collins of Alton.

Liquor Sellers Must Give Bond Or Close Is Rule

Cracking down on holders of licenses to sell alcoholic liquor, Mayor W. A. Wainright and the liquor control commission, composed of the aldermen in the city council, last night ordered three places closed unless acceptable bond was provided by Wednesday noon.

Several other holders of licenses who were said to have applied for surety bonds were placed on another list and will be dealt with in a like manner if surety bonds are not forthcoming.

Applications for licenses to sell beer were accepted by commission from P. W. Konrad, on Broadway Alley, and W. D. Richards, 1316 South Main street. The applications were laid over for final action until the next meeting, under the rules of the commission.

The troublesome bond situation will be ironed out during the coming week if it is at all possible, the mayor told the commission. The commission, he said, has been patient long enough, and is going to straighten out this matter quickly.

DAMAGE SUIT IS WON BY SCOTT COUNTY SHERIFF

Montgomery Awarded Verdict at Retrial; Other Winchester News

Winchester, Ill., June 4.—The case of Albert Ring against Harry C. Montgomery, sheriff of Scott county, which was retried in Circuit Court here today before Judge Walter W. Wright, resulted in a verdict in favor of Montgomery. Ring asked damages to the extent of $10,000.00 for an alleged assault and battery said to have been committed in the Court House in Winchester, January 25th. The case was originally brought in the April term of Circuit Court here and was heard before Judge Lawrence E. Stone. This trial resulted in a verdict of not guilty in favor of the defendant, Montgomery. The verdict in this trial was later set aside by Judge Stone and a new trial granted on the ground that the Court had erred in allowing certain character witnesses to testify.

The new trial was heard today before a crowded court room despite the intense heat. As in the previous trial, the defense justified the assault and battery upon the grounds of self-defense. The testimony introduced by the defense showed that Montgomery did not strike Ring until after Ring had threatened him with a large heavy iron paper weight. This altercation, according to the testimony, occurred in the Circuit Clerk's office in the Court House and was followed by a further encounter in the corridor of the building. On this occasion the second assault by Montgomery was justified by the testimony of the defense on the ground that Ring pushed Montgomery away and called him a vile name.

The case was heard by a different jury who deliberated about twenty minutes upon their decision. It was said that two votes were taken and the second resulted in the unanimous vote of not guilty, thus throwing the expenses of both trials upon the plaintiff, Mr. Ring. Attorney John P. Snigg of Springfield, represented the plaintiff and Attorney John A. McKee of Winchester represented Montgomery.

Jonathan Booz, accompanied home from Champaign yesterday evening by Miss Kay Schultz. They returned to Champaign this morning to attend the Senior ball of the University of Illinois to be held this evening.

Beoble Gasen student at the University of Illinois, is home for the summer vacation.

Miss Mildred Funk has arrived home from St. Augustine, Florida, where she is employed in the city school system.

Miss Edna Smith and Warren Woodall of Springfield were visiting the former's parents yesterday.

Mrs. Fred Ely entertained her contract bridge club Saturday afternoon. Refreshments were served.

Mr. and Mrs. George Drew and family of White Hall were visiting friends here yesterday.

Mark Peak arrived here Saturday from Chicago where he has been looking after the entries from the Milky Way farm entered in races there.

The construction work upon the state route between Winchester and Alsey is progressing rapidly despite the hot weather and the need of rainfall. Every effort is being made to speed construction work in order that a maximum number may receive employment at this time and that the road may be ready for paving contractor at the earliest possible date.

W. H. Shons and company of Freeport, Illinois, contractor of the culvert work, have completed all of the culverts and cattle passes from Alsey to Vanant Hill about three miles south of Winchester.

The Weir Construction company of Rock Island, Illinois, after doing some of the heavy grading on the Charlie O'Donnell Hill, started north from Alsey on the new location of the road. The grading work has been completed almost to the O'Donnell hill and the small hills north between the O'Donnell hill and the Vanant hill have almost been eliminated by the grading work.

The Pen-Handle Pipe Line Company were required to encase their pipe line with heavier pipe where it crosses under the new location of the road and this work is just about completed.

Haines-Kilgo Construction Company of Alton, Illinois, have made the final pour of concrete for the abutments of the bridge across Big Sandy Creek at the old slaughter house. The Illinois Steel Bridge Company of Jacksonville, contractor for the steel span there, have been hauling materials and are ready to commence construction of the steel trusses.

Haines-Kilgo have completed tearing out the old bridge at the foot of Vanant Hill and have completed the excavation for the north abutment. They will commence driving piling here at once. This outfit has been working night and day in order to speed construction work.

Mrs. T. H. Dugan and Mrs. T. H. Watt entertained five tables of bridge at the home of the former Saturday afternoon. Refreshments were served.

M. F. Dunlap is Denied Review by High Court; To Ask For Rehearing

Washington, June 4.—(P)—Millard F. Dunlap, convicted of making false entries in the books of the Avers National Bank of Jacksonville, Illinois, of which he was president, was denied a review today by the supreme court.

Dunlap was sentenced to two years imprisonment and a fine of $5,000, the sentence being affirmed by the seventh circuit court of appeals.

William St. John Wines, of Springfield, attorney for Mr. Dunlap, stated last night that he will immediately prepare a petition asking the supreme court for a rehearing in the case. The attorney stated that he had twenty days in which to file this petition. Attorneys familiar with the practices of the high court declared last night that only three such petitions had ever been allowed by the high tribunal.

The procedure in the case according to Mr. Wines, is that the supreme court will issue a mandate to the United States court of appeals in Chicago, this court will in turn send the mandate to the United States district court of this district, where judgment will be enforced. This procedure takes about thirty days.

When the U. S. District court receives the mandate and issues judgment, Attorney Wines will be called upon to bring his client into court when judgment will be passed and the United States marshal will be given his orders.
